MILLER MADE OATH THAT HIS 'WORTHLESS' BOND WAS IN FORCE

Transcript of Testimony
When Candidate for Mayor Was Examined by Kentucky Board.

"IN FORCE BECAUSE PREMIUM WAS PAID"

As an Insurance Man, However, Miller Did Not Consider Indemnity Contract
a Good One.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 31.—
Victor J. Miller, Republican candidate for Mayor of St. Louis, swore in an affidavit Aug. 16, 1919, that there was then "in force" a surety bond which he later characterized as a "not worth the paper it is written on," a further examination of the record of the American Indemnity Exchange here reveals.

The surety bond which Miller
swore was in force and later characterized as worthless, was posted with the Workmen's Compensation Board of Kentucky to guarantee payment by the American Indemnity Exchange of compensation in cases of $25,000 in the cases of workmen killed or injured in industrial accidents.

As was told yesterday in the Post-Dispatch, the exchange, headed by Miller as attorney-in-fact,
had an extensive business in Kentucky writing workmen's compensation insurance policies for operations of mines and industrial plants
in this State, which had been built up at the rate of $150,000 monthly, that the exchange got permission from the Workmen's Compensation Board to post a surety bond.

Miller's admission that he had sworn the surety bond was, "in force" was made under oath during examination by the board in July, 1920. He was called after
Mr. G. H. Galt, Kentucky representative of the exchange, had before the board a copy of letter in which Miller had characterized the bond as "not worth the paper it is written on" and said:

"In no way obligates the bonding company, (the bonding company), and I secured it with that understanding and so worded the contract. We secured this bond in order that we might induce the workmen's Compensation Board to make us put up $150,000 a month in the First National Bank of Louisville. It had the desired effect, and the brilliant chairman of the board was not able to see that there is no liability under the contract."

After admitting before the board
under oath that he had made such statements in a letter to George H. Galt, West Virginia representative of the insurance firm, Miller
was examined about the affidavit.
It was read into the record. It was sworn to Aug. 16, 1919, at St. Louis, and was witnessed by A. C. C.
St. Louis, a notary public. The affidavit was as follows:

"Victor J. Miller, attorney-infact for subscribers of the American Indemnity Exchange, on his oath states that there is now in force a bond issued by the Southern Surety Co. in favor of subscribers at American Indemnity Exchange by the terms of which said Southern Surety Co.
agreed to pay all losses of subscribers of the American Indemnity Exchange in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) which said American Indemnity Exchange may suffer on account of accident at any of the subscribers' operations."

"Did you make that affidavit?" Miller was asked by Alvin S. Bennett, a chairman of the board.
"I made it," he said.
What was the purpose of that?
"What it went down to Mr. Galt to deliver to Judge Thomas," C. P. Thomas, chairman of the board, asked Miller. "Did you make it?" Miller said he did.
"Did you make it?" Miller said he did.
"Did you make it?" Miller said he did.

FIFTY SOLDIERS DROWNED WHEN BRIDGE BROKE APART

Members of German Reichswehr, Under Full Equipment, Perish in River Weser
on Crossing Pontoon Structure

By the Associated Press.

DETMOULD, Germany, March 31.—
Fifty members of the German Reichswehr were drowned in the River Weser this morning when a bridge being constructed by pioneers, in connection with the Reichswehr maneuvers broke apart.
The victims were part of a column marching in full field equipment which attempted to use the temporary structure.

More than 100 soldiers were precipitated into the river when the pontoon bridge gave way, and the first estimate of 50 drowned may be exceeded.
The men thrown into the water
had to struggle against the handicap of their heavy equipment and it was feared that the inability of numbers of them to free themselves from it might greatly increase the death list.

FIRE, NEGRO USES PISTOL TO "GET HIS"

Insurance Company Agent Marches Manager to Bank to Get Collateral for Stock.

An automatic pistol was named
"Board of Directors" of the Douglas Life Insurance Co., 248 Olive street, today by Ray Batson, a negro, who was an agent of the company until this morning. The first action of the new board was to get back for Batson a deed of trust for $1500 which he had put up as collateral on stock he was purchasing in the company.

When Batson appeared at the offices this morning he was informed that his services were no longer required. About noon he returned and informed the general manager, William McMahon, also a negro,
that he had to have his job or his deed of trust. McMahon told him
the deed of trust was too important for the general manager to dispose of without authority from the board.

"Here's my board of directors," Batson said, and whipped out the huge pistol. "If you once open your mouth I'll shoot you dead. You walk in front of me till I get what I need."

"McMahon closed his mouth. He walked in front of Batson down
the stairs and down Jefferson avenue to the Laclede Trust Co. at Market street. Batson put the pistol out of sight, but from the way he talked, McMahon could almost feel it between his shoulder blades.

Batson made him walk in front
into the bank and back to the safe deposit vault, where the deed was kept. McMahon was faced the other way while he ran through papers in a safe deposit box until he found the deed.

"Now," he said, "you stay here,
and if you open your mouth for half an hour your children will be orphans." He ran out.

EXPLORER KILLED IN MOROCCO

CHICAGO, March 31.—Word that Dr. Hans L. Hammerstein, his three children and their governess
were killed by natives in Spanish Morocco, has reached Chicago relatives from Barcelona, where, it was said his wife, seriously wounded, is in a hospital.

Dr. Hammerstein was an explorer and zoologist and had been granted some virgin forest in Morocco by the Spanish Government for cultivation. He lived here 20 years ago, and contributed some valuable animals to the Lincoln Park Zoo, among them a shetland pony, 2 feet 10 inches in height.

ELY & WALKER BUYS CARLETON DRY GOODS CO.

Deal Announced as a Cash Transaction Involving Between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

ACTUAL TRANSFER TO TAKE PLACE JUNE 1

Creates Largest Wholesale Dry Goods Firm in West
—Capitalization About

The Carleton Dry Goods Co., with capital and surplus in excess of $5,000,000, has been purchased outright by the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co., creating in St. Louis the largest wholesale dry goods organization of the Middle West.

The actual transfer will take place June 1, but the Carleton company will continue to be operated as a separate unit and none of the 4000 employees of the two companies will be affected by the change. C. M. Lawson, president of the Ely & Walker company, stated
today the deal is a cash transaction involving between $2,500,000
and $3,000,000. Negotiations were handled by Festus J.
Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co.

The dry goods companies are two of the largest manufacturers and jobbers of dry goods in St. Louis.
Last year their combined sales comprised $60,000,000 of the $140-000,000 of dry goods business handled in this market.

Details of the transaction.
The Ely & Walker company, it is announced, has agreed to purchase the Carleton company's stock of merchandise, trademarks,
good will, and its lease on the building at Twelfth and Olive and Oliver street. Lawson explained that an inventory of the Carleton company's property will be taken as of May 31, and payment made on this valuation.

To the Carleton company stockholders, the transaction will be liquidation. At what rate they will be paid is not known but it is understood they will not lose by the sale. On the exchange today, 50 shares of Carleton company were offered at the figure of $22.00. The company's principal stockholder, a block of this stock changed hands Feb. 8 last.

The Ely & Walker company will operate the Carleton company as an unincorporated branch of the parent company, carrying there a separate line of goods. Whether the Carleton trademarks will be used has not been decided.

The Ely & Walker Co. has a capitalization of $10,400,725, and a surplus of $4,468,500. The capital is divided into $1,500,000 of first preferred stock, $1,500,000 of second preferred and $7,400,725 of common stock.

The Carleton company has a History of Carleton Company.

The Carleton company is the successor of the old St. Louis dry goods firm of Henry Bell & Son, organized in 1867. Later it became the Daniel W. Bell Co. and at Bell's death in 1877 the Boogher interests, with James H. Wear, took over the company, reorganizing it as J. H. Wear, Boogher & Co. In 1896 it became the Carleton Dry Goods Co. with Murray Carleton as president.

The Ely & Walker company was founded by Frank Ely in 1878 as Ely-Jones & Co. Later he associated himself with D. D. Walker, and in 1883 organized the Ely &
Walker Dry Goods Co. David R.
Calhoun, late president of the company, was succeeded at his death in February by Lawson.

The Ely & Walker and Carleton companies now have on the road in the St. Louis trade territory more than 400 traveling salesmen.

HOGAN'S DEFENSE LAYS ROBBERY TO MAN NOW DEAD

Widow of Herbert Wall Identifies 'J. B. H.' Coat Offered in Evidence as Late Husband's.

POLICE HELP FORGE
LINKS FOR STATE

Mother of Defendant Is Witness for Him and Introduction of Alibi Testimony Is Begun.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNION, Mo., March 31.—As in the second trial of "Jimmy" Hogan, St. Louis gangster, for the robbery, four years ago of Ernie Pillow, negro messenger for the North St. Louis Savings Trust Co.,
the defense today in the third trial,
tried to transfer the charge of robbery to a dead man's shop.

Mrs. Cora Wall, widow of an alleged freight thief, Herbert Wall, unflinchingly testified that the coat, which Pillow said the gobsbers covered him with, had belonged to her husband and the initials
J. B. H. in the coat, she averred, corresponded to her husband's. The dead husband had used. The car
the robbers abandoned, she said was hers, having disappeared from her home.

Cross-examined, she said Wall,
who was crushed to death between baggage coaches in St. Louis in 1923, had bought the coat in the spring of 1920. The tailor's label was dated in October, 1919. Mrs.
Wall admitted her husband was dead when she saw the coat, explaining some time after the robbery.

Got Coat From Pillow.
Police testified that Pillow had turned the coat over to them. The State at this trial for the first time submitted the death certificate of the tailor of the coat, explaining his absence as a witness and depriving the defense of a strong talking point. Other State testimony was to trace the possession of various important exhibits of evidence.

Mrs. Augusta Flagle, of 3307 Rutger street, who was brought here under attachment, testified that one of the prisoners taken by the police in the chase after the robbery was arrested in her yard
after running in and saying something to her, but "don't tell." She could not identify Hogan as the man.

State Rests Its Case.
The State rested its case this morning.
While the defense was debating
how to proceed, speculation increased as to the presence of various persons associating in the Courtroom with the defendant and his habitual bodyguard. Among these persons were "Little Green Onions" (Epaphia Hogan gangster, and two negroes who did not attend
other trials.

Beginning defensive testimony,
there was a surprise witness, the defendant's mother, Mrs. Edward Hogan, brought to circumvent the minute evidence of the coat label.
She asserted that her boy was born
Nov. 7, 1887, had been christened
as an infant as James Henry Hogan.

Mrs. Hogan, a large woman of 60 years, gave her address as 3035
Cass avenue, St. Louis. She and her son did not exchange glances
as she passed within touch of him to take the witness stand. Introduction of Hogan's alibi that he had been in the vicinity of Compton and Park avenues, St. Louis, at the time of the robbery and of his arrest, then began.

One of the negroes accompanying Hogan's party, Robert Payne,
a teamster, was among those who testified to the alibi which was in a saloon at Compton avenue and Hickory street between 11:30 a. m. and noon the day of the robbery, which occurred many blocks away, at 11:40 a. m.

The defense rested at 2:25 p. m., without placing the defendant on the stand. He had testified at his second trial, but not at the first,
admitting freely that he had used
a woman as a shield from the bullets.

WIFE'S SIGNATURE CLEARS FERGUSON

Texas Governor Signs Bill Restoring Full Rights to Impeached Husband.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 31.—Full political and civil rights were restored today to former Gov. James E. Ferguson, impeached in 1917,
when his wife, the first woman
Governor of Texas, signed the amnesty bill passed by the last Legislature.

"I have signed my name many hundreds of times since becoming Governor, but this is the happiest
signature I have written," said Mrs. Ferguson, as she laid down the pen of gold.

When Ferguson was impeached
and declared ousted as Governor, part of the sentence decreed he never should hold public office in Texas again. For seven years he sought to come back politically and to have his name vindicated.
Barred from being a candidate for the governorship, his wife became the Democratic candidate and was elected, the principal plea being "vindicate our name."

The charges against Ferguson
when he was Governor concerned handling of public funds. He always maintained he was accused unjustly.

MILLER AND NOLTE ASSESSED $1000 EACH FOR G. O. P. FUND

14 Nominees for Board of Aldermen Asked to Give $250 Each.
Making a Total of $5500.

Victor J. Miller, Republican nominee for Mayor, and Louis Nolte, Republican nominee for Comptroller, have been assessed $1000 each by the Republican City Committee as their contribution toward the Republican campaign fund. Nominees for the Board of Aldermen were assessed $250 each, bringing the total assessment of candidates
up to $5500.

As is known, "the boys" at the city hall and various other municipal offices are "contributing" voluntarily. Most of them have by voluntary contribution given 10 per cent of one month's salary. The charter prevents the levying of assessment against city employees for campaign funds, by letters were recently sent out by the City Committee saying that contributions would be welcomed.

SEAPLANE OF RUM FLEET CAPTURED

Cutter Takes Craft as It Is Trying to Connect With Rum Ship.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 31.—A brief
radio message received by coast guard officials at the large office
from the officers of the coast guard cutter Mojave announced that the first time since the war on rum runners was declared, a seaplane had been captured off Rum Row yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Jacobs, in charge of the coast guard, said his information
was that the seaplane Lorraine II had been captured by officers of the Mojave as it was attempting to establish a contact with one of the vessels in Rum Row.

The Mojave is believed to have been cruising off Fire Island when the plane was captured. If the crew of the plane were attempting to establish contact with vessels in the rum fleet at the time they were captured, coast guard officials expressed the opinion that the vessel or vessels with which contact was sought are also liable to seizure, irrespective of whether they are 10 or 100 miles off shore.

According to the officials, the treaty with Great Britain and other nations provides for the seizure
of a rum ship within one hour's sailing time from the shore, regardless of whether the carrier, whose speed determines the distance, is a motorboat, sailing vessel or airplane.

SUNSPOT WEATHER FORECASTING

Father Howard Bought First Telescope From Methodist School.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, March 31.—
What he saw through a telescope gave Father Jerome S. Rigard the data on which he based his system of sunspot weather forecasting,
he told an audience at the City Club here last night.

"I was laughed at," he said,
"when I timidly advanced the theory that storms are connected with spots on the sun. But with a little 8-inch telescope we bought from a Methodist school, I was allowed to continue my studies and after I had made some 3000 observations
and had compared them with 4000 Government weather maps, I became convinced that I could predict the coming of a Pacific Coast storm as much as two and a half weeks in advance."

DID NOT KNOW SON WAS PAID INTEREST UPON BANKRUPT FUNDS

Federal Judge Takes Stand in His Own Defense and Testifies as to Karch Disbarment.

SAYS HE SAW PISTOL
IN LAWYER'S POCKET

Denies Use of Vile Epithets
From Bench or Extension of Special Favors to Thomas.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.

Federal Judge George W. En-GLISH today defended himself on the witness stand before the Congressional Committee which will determine whether he should be impeached. He entered general denials to many of the charges against him, attempted to give a more favorable construction to others, and made partial admission to the remainder.

He denied that he knew his son,
Farris English, was collecting 3 per cent interest on the bankruptcy funds deposited under the Court's direction in the Union Trust Co.
His son, he added, told him about it last January, three weeks after resigning from the bank.

He admitted that when he asked an officer of the bank for a job for Farris, he told the officer that bankruptcy deposits in the bank would be increased, but denied that he made the increase conditional upon the employment of Farris.

He corroborated earlier versions of his disbarment of Charles A.
Karch and Thomas M. Webb, but declared he had seen a revolver in Karch's pocket in the courtroom before he disbarred him. He denied that he flourished a revolver
a few minutes later, or that he said if any shooting was to be done he intended to shoot first.

Thomas Gave Check for Auto.
Admitting that his automobile
was paid for with a check made out by his Referee in Bankruptcy, by Charles B. Thomas, he told the committee that his young son, Virgil, borrowed the money from Referee Thomas, his appointee.

He denied that he had any knowledge of the excessive fees and charges which members of the "bankruptcy ring" in Referee
Thomas' office levied upon bankruptcy estates.

The Judge testified that he appointed Referee Thomas to the re-ceivership and as attorney for receivers, which he held, only because the interested parties insisted upon having Thomas.

He denied he had ever used vile epithets from the bench, as testified by several witnesses for the complainants.

The Judge denied he had ordered the release of Williamson County gangsters arrested by the police, or that he had commanded the police to dismiss the charges against them
and restore their revolvers.

Also he denied that he had ever extended any special favors or advantages to Referee Thomas in the trial of cases, and said he never knew that Thomas represented himself to prospective clients as having influence with the Judge,
until he saw it in the Post-Dispatch.

Judge English's manner on the witness stand was oratorical and emphatic, and Congressman Jersey interrupted him on one occasion
and asked him not to argue his case to the committee. The Judge's voice was loud and ringing, and was accompanied by gestures, and compressing of his lips and wrin-king of his brow.

His First Statement.
Since the Post-Dispatch, on Jan.
3 last, announced that an investigation was under way into the official conduct of Judge English, heard any until last year, when it was reported that the referee Thomas was likely to resign, at which time he said, "I think it would be a favorable thing for you if he did."

"Did you, in the trial of cases, ever extend to him any special favors or advantages?" asked the judge's counsel. "I never did," replied the jurist.

Judge English denied the statement of Wayne Ely, former assistant United States District Attorney of St. Louis, that the judge stated he would send jurors to jail in contempt of court if they refused to find a defendant guilty on a charge from him to find a verdict of guilty.

George L. Zimmerer, Realty Dealer, Makes no Provision for Divorced Wife in Lieu of Settlement.

HAD BEEN GIVEN $15,000 IN ALIMONY

Trust Fund of $12,000 Created for Son and Remainder of Estate Is Given to Three Children.

Miss Edie Mae Smith of Chicago, a burlesque actress, was bequeathed $25,000 in the will of George L. Zimmerer, a realty dealer, who died Saturday. His former wife, Mrs. Emily R. Zimmerer, 5229 Washington boulevard, who obtained a divorce from him on March 10, is not named as a beneficiary. The will states that Zimmerer and Mrs. Zimmerer entered into a separation agreement on Dec. 31, 1917, by which he agreed to pay $300 a month to her for the support of herself and their three children and she agreed to renounce her right to any dower interest in his estate.

At the divorce trial, Mrs. Zimmerer was awarded $15,000 alimony in gross and $125 a month for the support of a minor son, George, who is now 14 years old. At the time she sued for divorce she estimated her husband to be worth $150,000.

A trust fund of $12,000 is created by the will for the benefit of the son, George, and the remainder of the estate is given in equal shares to three children—Charles J. Zimmerer, George, Charles is named as executor. The will, which was drawn March 23, 1923, explains that the bequest to Miss Smith was on account of the great friendship she bore to her benefactor.

Zimmerer recently filed a petition seeking to adopt Miss Smith, who is 30 years old, but he later abandoned the plan. He became acquainted with her about nine years ago. In her divorce petition, Mrs. Zimmerer mentioned this incident, and also the name of Mrs. Maud Frank, whose husband, Peter, had sued Zimmerer for $100,000, alleging alienation of his wife's affections.

Zimmerer was 54 years old and was engaged in the real estate business, with offices in the Wainwright Building. He was taken sick Friday with kidney trouble at the Missouri Athletic Association, where he lived, and was removed to the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium. His funeral was held yesterday.

post which the American Indemnity Exchange was forced to make.

"That referred to the Kentucky business," "Yes."

"How could you make that affidavit if the bond on file here was not a good one and you knew it?"

"We had a bond in force here."

"If the bond was not worth the paper it was written on," Bennett persisted, using Miller's characterization of the security, "they would not agree to do anything," meaning apparently the Southern Surety Co., which Miller had previously declared was not bound by the terms of the bond.

"You understand me, that is only my opinion," Miller said. "Then why did you swear it is anything?" "I swore it because I believed it was true," Miller declared.

"You say it was secured with the understanding that it was not good and so worded it."

"In my opinion," Miller admitted, "it was not a desirable contract and I say that as an insurance man."

Miller proceeded to explain that he did not believe the board had a right to force his company to put up a surety bond as it had. He pointed out also, that the exchange later filed a bond of Lloyds of London, which was valid and adequate protection. Miller declared that while the law, in his opinion, did not authorize the exchange of the surety bonds he had accepted to the board's request in the interests of the exchange's subscribers.

As was told yesterday, the examination of Miller on the validity of the bond found him a quivering witness, first declaring that the bond was worthless and admitting the authority of the letter which characterized it, and later saying that the bond was good.

Although he blamed Gabhart for filing of the bond, Gabhart on the stand under oath declared Miller had sole charge of the exchange and attended to securing the bond. Miller said during the examination that he was the largest stockholder in the Southern Surety Co., but denied he had approved the bond in that capacity.

As it happened, there was no wholesale industrial disasters in the exchange's client's plants during the time the worthless bond was on file and hence the exchange was not called upon to make any single indemnity payment over $25,000. Therefore no money was lost by the posting of the bond and after Lloyds bond was posted the subscribers had adequate protection.

Zimmerer, 5229 Washington boulevard, who obtained a divorce from him on March 10, is not named as a beneficiary. The will states that Zimmerer and Mrs. Zimmerer entered into a separation agreement on Dec. 31, 1917, by which he agreed to pay $300 a month to her for the support of herself and their three children and she agreed to renounce her right to any dower interest in his estate.

At the divorce trial, Mrs. Zimmerer was awarded $15,000 alimony in gross and $125 a month for the support of a minor son, George, who is now 14 years old. At the time she sued for divorce she estimated her husband to be worth $150,000.

A trust fund of $12,000 is created by the will for the benefit of the son, George, and the remainder of the estate is given in equal shares to three children—Charles J. Zimmerer, George, Charles is named as executor. The will, which was drawn March 23, 1923, explains that the bequest to Miss Smith was on account of the great friendship she bore to her benefactor.

Zimmerer recently filed a petition seeking to adopt Miss Smith, who is 30 years old, but he later abandoned the plan. He became acquainted with her about nine years ago. In her divorce petition, Mrs. Zimmerer mentioned this incident, and also the name of Mrs. Maud Frank, whose husband, Peter, had sued Zimmerer for $100,000, alleging alienation of his wife's affections.

Zimmerer was 54 years old and was engaged in the real estate business, with offices in the Wainwright Building. He was taken sick Friday with kidney trouble at the Missouri Athletic Association, where he lived, and was removed to the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium. His funeral was held yesterday.

post which the American Indemnity Exchange was forced to make.

"That referred to the Kentucky business," "Yes."

"How could you make that affidavit if the bond on file here was not a good one and you knew it?"

"We had a bond in force here."

"If the bond was not worth the paper it was written on," Bennett persisted, using Miller's characterization of the security, "they would not agree to do anything," meaning apparently the Southern Surety Co., which Miller had previously declared was not bound by the terms of the bond.

"You understand me, that is only my opinion," Miller said. "Then why did you swear it is anything?" "I swore it because I believed it was true," Miller declared.

"You say it was secured with the understanding that it was not good and so worded it."

"In my opinion," Miller admitted, "it was not a desirable contract and I say that as an insurance man."

Miller proceeded to explain that he did not believe the board had a right to force his company to put up a surety bond as it had. He pointed out also, that the exchange later filed a bond of Lloyds of London, which was valid and adequate protection. Miller declared that while the law, in his opinion, did not authorize the exchange of the surety bonds he had accepted to the board's request in the interests of the exchange's subscribers.

As was told yesterday, the examination of Miller on the validity of the bond found him a quivering witness, first declaring that the bond was worthless and admitting the authority of the letter which characterized it, and later saying that the bond was good.

GIANT BRITISH AIRSHIP TO HAVE SMOKING ROOM

Craft, Accommodating 100 Passengers Will Be Used in India Service.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, March 31.—The British air ministry's new giant airship, the R-101, to be used on the England-to-India route, will have a framework of rustless, stainless steel, it was stated here this afternoon. The keel probably will be laid in July or August.

Another innovation on the ship will be a smoking room for passengers. Like that on an ocean liner, this will be made possible by the employment of internal combustion engines, burning heavy oil instead of kerosene.

It is partly as the result of experience obtained in building all-metal airplanes that designers decided to use steel instead of duralumin in the R-101.

The ship will be 720 feet long and 140 feet high. It will have accommodations for 100 passengers. There will be two decks, one carrying two-berth sleeping cabins and the other general living rooms.

The dimensions of the two rigid dirigibles owned by the United States are: Los Angeles, 558 feet long, 100 feet high; Shenandoah, 680 feet long, 96 feet high. Both have duralumin frame and burn gasoline, but the use of helium instead of highly inflammable hydrogen for inflation eliminated one of the greatest perils of airship navigation.

PEOPLE'S MOTORBUS CO. SHOWS $1,349,559 GROSS RECEIPTS

Gross receipts of $1,349,559 for the first month ending Jan. 31, 1925, was shown in a report of the People's Motorbus Co. filed with Comptroller Nolte today.

This was the first report for a full year filed by the bus concern. A check for $40,486.78, yearly license fee of 3 per cent, was received by the license collector.

ing the tim the worthless bond was on file and hence the exchange was not called upon to make any single indemnity payment over $25,000. Therefore no money was lost by the posting of the bond and after Lloyds bond was posted the subscribers had adequate protection.

After the hearing Insurance Commissioner Ramey of Kentucky declined to revoke the license of the American Indemnity Exchange, but Miller blocked his efforts by filing an injunction suit. Attorney General Dawson, now a Federal Judge, advised Ramey to drop the proceeding as he was certain Miller would win the suit on its merits.

The exchange was thrown into receivership Nov. 16, 1923, and is now in charge of the Louisville Trust Co., appointed receiver by the Circuit Court at Louisville.

Miller yesterday declined to discuss the affairs of the American Indemnity Exchange following publication in the Post-Dispatch of his letter that the exchange's bond was "not worth the paper it is written on."

'OFFICIALLY ENGAGED' TO LILLIAN GISH

Film Producer Says Unannounced Troth at First Was "Unofficial."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 31.—The story of his love-tempered by business arrangements—for Miss Lillian Gish, film star, was told yesterday to Federal Judge Mack in a crowded courtroom by Charles H. Duell Jr., who is suing the motion-picture actress to compel her to carry out the seven-year contract he holds for her exclusive services.

Duell, now the sole owner of Charles H. Duell, Inc., motion picture producers, revealed his engagement to Miss Gish, his fiancée, as "official" and "unofficial."

He testified of the earnings he expected Miss Gish's pictures, produced by him, to bring.

"Were you engaged to marry Miss Gish?" was asked by his counsel. Holland S. Duell, his trial counsel. The producer's head remained bent in deep thought several minutes before he answered "Yes."

"I became unofficially engaged to Miss Gish toward the end of June, 1923, directly after I had been formally separated from my wife," the witness continued.

Judge Mack balked at the word "unofficially." "You are using words that are strange to me when used in connection with a marriage engagement," he declared.

"The engagement was broken April 2, 1924," Duell said. "We had been unofficially engaged until that date."

Despite the termination of matrimonial plans, Duell testified, he had gone on with his arrangements to star Miss Gish in a series of pictures. He said he had paid out $50,000 for film rights to the "Outcasts" when he learned from the actress' lawyers that she also had severed their business engagement.

Before finishing direct testimony the producer told how he came to be executor of the film star's will late in 1923. Duell said he had found Miss Gish's affairs in bad condition after she told him she wanted him to save her money for her.

Testifying he had lent Miss Gish money from his "own pocket," Duell said at one time he had turned over to her $250 in French francs for which he later received $550. Another time, he said, he had lent her a large sum.

CHAPMAN'S CHIEF ACCUSER GRILLED BY THE DEFENSE

Son of Wealthy Family Admits He Entered Into Robbery to "Get All the Money He Could."

By the Associated Press.

HARTFORD, Conn., March 31.—Walter E. Shean, son of a wealthy Springfield (Mass.) family, the State's principal witness against Gerald Chapman, mall robber and "craftiest of criminals," charged with the murder of Patrolman James Skelly during the looting of a New Britain store last October, took the stand today for cross-examination.

Shean, obviously nervous and answering questions hesitantly, said he had met Chapman, known to him as Waldo W. Miller, by the latter's telephone appointment.

"Chapman told me he was a friend of George Brown's," said Shean.

At this point Frederick J. Groehl, chief counsel for the defense, brought out that Brown was a known "peter man" and a blower, who now is in the Federal prison in Atlanta.

Chapman Takes Notes.

Shean said he met Brown four years ago and knew him for eight weeks, when he disappeared. He had not seen him since, he said.

Yet, he admitted, he had accepted Chapman in friendship, although he knew Brown was a crook. Groehl, during his cross-examination, often consulted with Chapman who took many notes as Shean testified.

Shean admitted he had had trouble over a stolen bond case. Joseph Marshall, a Springfield race maker, he said, told him that he had $100,000 worth of stolen bonds and asked Shean to help him dispose of them. Shean said he "stalled" Marshall until he had time to telephone the Department of Justice at Washington to inform that bureau of the stolen bond offer.

A Government operative called on him, but Shean had neglected to get Marshall's address and the bonds were never recovered nor was Marshall arrested.

"To Get All He Could."

Shean partly contradicted a feature of his direct story yesterday. This occurred when Groehl asked Shean sarcastically if he had "gone into the New Britain burglary with Chapman in the morning desire to help the government." Shean answered: "I went into the burglary to get all the money I could get out of it."

Shean testified yesterday that he had not known of Chapman's plan to rob the Davidson and Leventhal store until a few minutes before the robbery. Groehl stressed this point and got Shean to admit that he knew Walter F. Carrigan, a fugitive from justice, with whom Shean was accused of having illegally gotten $40,000 from Nicholas Baker, a Springfield restaurant man.

Father Made Checks Good.

The witness admitted that he had issued many fictitious checks through his advertising concern and that his "poor old father had to make good for them." He was unable to explain the appearance of the name of Joseph Marshall, a race maker, in a check he had written in indorsement on the back of one of his checks. Shean first denied his signature of the check, but subsequently admitted he had written it. The check was drawn July 1, 1924. Shean previously had testified that he had not seen Marshall since three years ago, when he was offered the $100,000 in stolen bonds.

Groehl was trying to prove that Marshall was a "peter man" and that it had been cashed by a Mrs. Cunningham, a maid in the Hotel Somerset, New York. Mrs. Cunningham called on Shean in jail and pointed him out as the man who had given it to her and accepted her money. She knew him under the name of Marshall, Groehl contended.

Shean admitted purchase for $4800 or $7000 worth of bonds he knew were stolen from the Bank of Wymssing, Pennsylvania. Chapman's lawyer accused him of having been one of the band who had robbed the bank of $180,000 worth of bonds. Shean denied it.

Identified as W. W. Miller.

In direct examination yesterday, Shean placed the entire blame upon Chapman, saying he did not even know of the projected safe looting until Chapman had driven him in his car from Meriden to New Britain on the morning of the crime. Only when Chapman stopped the car at a street corner and left with a crackman's tools did he know that his companion was about to "sawing a peter" (using nitroglycerin) on the store safe, he testified.

"PULL" COSTS U. S. SHIPS $220,000; ALL IN REBATES

Congressmen and Celebrities Get Lower Fares on Shipping Board Vessels, Report Reveals.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News, Copyright, 1925.

LONDON, March 31.—Included in the $38,000,000 deficit of the United States Shipping Board last year was a substantial item of between $220,000 and $250,000 representing fare rebates granted to Congressmen, movie actresses and impecunious members of European nobility.

The recent agreement of Atlantic Conference Lines against rate cutting provides for mutual publicity of the names of all passengers receiving rebates. This publicity may induce Congressmen to pay full fare this year since rebates savor somewhat of a cash consideration in return for a favorable vote on the annual ship subsidy bill.

The thousands of dollars worth of rebates which Congressmen and their families and their retainers have received annually from American ships are excused under the necessity of "keeping Congress good natured." The thousands rebated to celebrities is classified as advertising on the theory that newspaper items about them, together with their photographs, attracts plain citizens who are obliged to pay full scheduled fares.

Get Cheapest Cabins.

While discrimination in favor of those having a pull shows a book loss of around a quarter of a million dollars annually, the actual loss is considerably larger because the cheapest cabins of the ships are pre-empted by these favorites, while those paying advertised fares are forced either to take cheaper accommodations or to patronize other lines.

On the voyage of the Leviathan, just completed, a Senator who is prominent in the present administration occupied with his wife a parlor suite listed at $1350. Countess Domanska and Pola Negri and her maid had a more elaborate one. The Polish movie actress paid full fare, however, which was $1875.

Congressmen have frequently demanded free passage on European pleasure trips, paying only for members of their families at minimum rates. Few have been able to secure free passage, but any Congressman or public official could get the minimum rate of $265 and get the finest accommodations aboard ship.

Tough on Ordinary Passenger.

For the ordinary passenger getting suitable accommodations on the Leviathan was similar to getting a good seat at the theatre. He either had to buy from a broker or take last minute chances. A fortnight prior to the last sailing of the Leviathan, a senator from Chicago, which is not included in the Washington and New York rebate zone, applied for a $750 cabin. The New York officers insisted that all such accommodations were gone.

A few minutes before the ship sailed a Senator was transferred from Chicago into a suite de luxe and the Chicagoan was notified that he might have the cabin. Having made other reservations he could not accept, with the result that a $750 cabin was empty through the voyage.

General Manager of U. S. Lines Defends Rebate Practice.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Thomas H. Rosbottom, general manager of the United States Lines, defends the practice of giving United States Senators and Congressmen and other Government "servants" transatlantic steamer passage rebates on the grounds of expediency.

"We give members of Congress, Government employees, Consul and dependent members of their families the minimum rate and then assign them to rooms which have not been sold," Rosbottom said.

Moths and Bugs Killed In Vacuum Tank in Test

Government Expert Experiments With St. Louisian's Device to Bring Age of Pestless Housekeeping.

A number of bugs, beetles, worms and moths were martyrs to science yesterday. They died in tests conducted by a Government expert of the Department of Agriculture. The purpose of the tests was to observe the effectiveness of a vacuum suit invented by Tilden W. Orcutt, a storage company official, who believes that his apparatus will prove to be certain death to the vermin and insects that infest clothes, food, carpets and furniture.

The Department of Agriculture is interested in the tests because this is believed to be the first time that a vacuum has been employed as a bug killer. The most fastidious of housewives would have been interested in the tests because they raised hopes of an age of mothless housekeeping. The bugs were interested in the tests because they had to be.

The tests settled a number of hitherto undetermined issues. It was proved that some bugs die harder than others, but it was clear that they all died with equal thoroughness.

Vacuum Kills Moth.

For instance, take the case of Tineola Biselliella, which is the name under which the ordinary household moth masquerades in polite scientific society. As every housewife knows, these insects can make the best draperies, carpets and garments look like so many second-hand rugs. The insect lives from two months to two years in the course of its life cycle, but in the vacuum it is quickly desiccated, whether in the stage of egg, larvae, cocoon or moth.

Similar was the case of Tenebrio Obscurus, who sounds like a quack.

The last witness, John P. Hagerty, of 2842 Gamble street, St. Louis, asserted that he had seen the robbery and that Hogan was not one of the robbers. The jury will have the case by evening.

Hogan Identified as Robber by State's Star Witness.

Chief testimony for the State yesterday was to identify Hogan as the assailant of the bank messenger and as one of a group of men seen fleeing from the vicinity where the kidnaped messenger was abandoned when the robbers' car broke down. It corresponded to that of previous trials.

A. W. Wrieden, assistant secretary of the bank, which is now the North St. Louis Trust Co., identified the bank's satchel, a $500 Treasury certificate in it and Pillow's revolver, which were recovered near where Hogan was arrested. A. J. Green, a clerk at the bank, said the bag resembled Pillow's.

William Losemann, the State's star witness, identified Hogan as the man who grappled with Pillow at Jefferson avenue and Wash street. Pillow's head being covered with a coat, following which, Losemann said, Hogan and a companion sped away with the messenger in an automobile, the other man seizing the satchel, which the messenger was forced to drop.

Losemann did not say the victim was Pillow, as he could not see the man's head, nor tell whether he was white or a negro. On further examination he remained firm against various attempts to shake him, but became confused over the victim's headgear and said of an alleged freight car thief, Herbert Walt, alias John E. Myers, who was killed in a train accident, and whose wife, Mrs. Cora Walt, testified at the last trial giving the inference that her husband was one of Pillow's robbers. Losemann was asked if that was a picture of the man he saw grappling with the messenger. He denied it. The picture was identified later by Detective Harry Powell of St. Louis as that of the man who claimed the robbers' abandoned car.

Detectives on Stand.

Powell and Detectives Joseph Mitchell and Gus L. Mier testified about the pursuit of several men from the Compton avenue viaduct, where the car was abandoned, to Hickory and Rutgers streets. Hogan being arrested in the rear yard of 3307 Rutgers street, hiding behind a box and with cartridges in his pocket. The detectives brought out the fact that Pillow is dead, but could not state that he had been murdered to prevent his testifying.

Steve McLeod of 3308 Rutgers street testified that two strange men had fled through his home at the time of the chase and later his small daughter had found Pillow's shotgun cast away there.

George W. Muench, former police property clerk, testified to show the disposition of the recovered bag, certificate and revolver.

Third Battalion Wins Field Meet.

The Third Battalion won the field meet held yesterday at Jefferson Barracks by amassing a total of 146 points. The Second Battalion was second with 102 points and the First Battalion ran third with 98 points. Eleven races were run off, all but three of which were team events.

Next October this body of men will assemble in St. Louis to thresh out manufacturing problems for its members. One of the main reasons for departing from the 30 year precedent was the enterprise and "go-after-em" spirit reflected in St. Louis' advertising to the nation. These men heard St. Louis' message.

This is just one of the many results from St. Louis' advertising campaign. New industries have been brought to us; new markets have been opened; a new picture of St. Louis has been broadcast throughout the country.

SLAIN EAST SIDE MAN'S BROTHER OF POLICEMAN

Lee Thompson of Collinsville Identifies Body Found Under Robe in Ditch Near Granite City.

Lee Thompson, a Collinsville policeman, today identified as his brother, J. S. Thompson, the body of a man, shot seven times, which was found in a ditch five miles north of Granite City, yesterday.

Thompson, Chief of Police, Jones of Collinsville appeared at the Granite City morgue at noon today where Thompson said his brother left home early yesterday and did not return. He refused to give any further information but returned immediately to Collinsville where the body was sent a few minutes later.

Madison County authorities were working with a few slender clues to identify the slain man, when the brother appeared. They had a sheet of ruled writing paper bearing a name and address, which was found in his vest pocket, but the blood from his wounds had made most of the penciled notation illegible. Under a magnifying glass the name appeared to be "J. S. Tomason" or "J. S. Tomalson," but all that remained visible of the town name were the last letters, "ville." An Elks' pin was on his coat, and Thompson, it developed, was a member of the East St. Louis Elks' lodge.

The body was found at 2 p. m. yesterday by James Butler and Elmer Parks of Granite City, who had been stopped on the Horseshoe Lake road at the Troy & Eastern Railroad tracks, when Butler observed a large can of motor oil standing beside a ditch some 30 feet away. It apparently had been put there to attract attention, for when Butler went to look at it, he noticed in the ditch, a green auto robe, and lifting the robe discovered the body.

Butler drove immediately to Granite City and returned with Deputy Coroner Tate. The body proved to be that of a man about 35 years old, neatly dressed in a brown suit, five feet nine inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. Three revolver bullets had entered near the heart, two in the head, one in the chest and one in the right arm. Bruises on the face indicated that the man had been badly beaten before he was shot.

HIS MEDICAL LICENSE

Dr. Walter E. Abell, Represented at Hearing by Lawyer. Offers no Testimony.

No testimony was offered in defense of Dr. Walter E. Abell of St. Louis at the close of testimony before the State Board of Health today to show that he had obtained his license to practice medicine in the State by false representations. Dr. Abell obtained his license Jan. 5, 1918, under an application which stated he had pursued medical studies three years at the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, six months at Washington University, and a year at the National University of Arts and Sciences. Complaint upon which revocation of his license is sought, filed with the board by Dr. Joseph Stintzel, former secretary of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was that his medical education consisted of two years, 1910-1911 and 1919-1920, in that school.

Testimony in Case. Dr. Ross Hopkins, director of license for the board, testified that Dr. Abell presented his application in June, 1920, and that the examination he passed was the third he had attempted. William Sachs, formerly dean of the liberal arts section of the National University, testified that Dr. Abell attended pre-medical courses in 1915-1916, and Dr. J. J. Link of that school's medical department said Dr. Abell was not enrolled in the medical courses that year, as stated in his application.

Dr. Abell attended pre-medical courses in Washington University in 1916-17, but obtained no credits. Registrar E. W. Lemke stated. The registrar of Washington University Medical School, Miss Dorothy C. Heideman, identified records which did not contain the name of Dr. Abell.

Statement of Lawyer. Edward Forsick, Dr. Abell's attorney, declared he was convinced no case had been made against his client and so he would not take up the board's time with defense testimony. The board will consider the case in executive session. The next case of similar charges to be taken up by the board was that of Dr. Hugo L. Boepfer, also of St. Louis.

Both Health Board and a Defendant to Appeal to Supreme Court. The Board of Health yesterday revoked the license to practice medicine and surgery in Missouri of Dr. Otto C. Hanser, 2834A Chouteau avenue. Dr. Hanser was charged, in a complaint filed by Dr. Joseph R. Stintzel, former secretary of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, with having obtained the license through fraud.

Dr. Hanser offered no defense. His attorney, Joseph G. Williams, announcing that he would seek a writ of mandamus from the State Supreme Court. Dr. Hanser's license was issued by the Board of Health Feb. 1, 1921, on an application filed in December, 1920.

At the close of the hearing of Dr. Hanser's case members of the board announced that a writ of prohibition will be filed in the Supreme Court in the case of Dr. Clara McGrew, a former secretary of the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. McGrew was cited with 60 other Missouri physicians to show cause why her license to practice medicine in Missouri should not be revoked, but obtained an injunction temporarily preventing the hearing.

ANDREWS' DIAMOND PALACE OF SAN FRANCISCO TO CLOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Andrews' Diamond Palace, with a history as alluring as that of the old curiosity shop, and a reputation that drew Presidents and Kings to its glittering galleries, is to pass out of existence after a life of 15 years.

"We are just retiring," its owners said today, explaining their order which will close up the famous old gem emporium on April 1. The names of Gen. Grant, President Harrison, Lily Langtry, Oscar Wilde, Adeline Patte, Louis Crabtree, David Warfield and Indian Rajahs, Persian Princes and European potentates appear on its books. It can show letters, some of them yellowed with age, speaking of the ardent appreciation of many of these notables for the hospitality extended to them by Col. A. Andrews, who founded the palace back in 1850, and those who succeeded him.

Fong Loom, who went to work for the Colonel 49 years ago, will be at his post as an attendant in the palace when the shades are drawn. Samuel Baker, with the firm for 52 years, will retire also when the lights are turned out on the sparkling facets of the big Kimberley and the other opulent gems. Baker remembers seeing the $20,000 quartz cutter that Col. Andrews made for himself against the time that he would be gathered to his fathers. One of the famous old stores of the world, ranking with Tiffany's itself, is passing out, Baker says.

NEW KROGER STORE POLICY

Pens may come and pens
may go, but Waterman's flows on forever—

Millions of Waterman's pens have been sold; millions of Waterman's pens are in daily use; millions of persons testify to the efficiency of Waterman's.

Waterman's is not a sensational pen. It stands on its record as the oldest and most progressive fountain pen made and offers perfect pen service without a time limit. A policy of a perfect pen kept in perfect condition has resulted in a pen business of greater size than that of all competing pen makers combined.

To satisfy perfectly your desire for beauty, perfect balance and supreme satisfaction, we recommend our lip-guard pens, made with red, scottled and black holders; with different sized holders to fit different sized hands and different pen points for different styles of writing.

NEW JURY WILL PASS ON SANITY OF ELLINGSON GIRL

Judge in Murder Trial,
After Hearing Testimony
of Doctor, Dismisses Regular Jury Temporarily.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—
Judge Harold Louderback ad-
journd the murder trial of 16-year-old Dorothy Ellingson from
this afternoon until April 6. A hearing into the sanity of the girl
who killed her mother was begun.

The Court yesterday dismissed
the regular jury and announced
that a new jury would be impan-
eled today to determine whether
the girl is insane at present.

The girl found no comfort in the
turn her case had taken. During
the discussions of her sanity she
sat with a white, drawn face. As
she went out for the noon recess,
she wept. At the close of court,
she staggered from her seat and
fell out of the grasp of the matron,
striking her shoulders sharply
against the clerk's desk. Unconscious, she was carried out and revived. It was one more of the many times she has fainted since
her trial began a week ago.

Testimony of Doctor.
A motion by the defense to interrupt the murder trial until the
mental condition of the girl had
been decided was granted after the Court had excused the jury and
heard the testimony of Dr. Jau
Don Ball, specialist in mental diseases. He pronounced the girl
"suffering from a psychosis."

Her form of insanity, he explained, was "medical and not legal." Judge Louderback held that
the showing of mental incompetency
was sufficient to justify a jury trial.

The psychiatrist said his opinion was based on an examination of Dorothy Ellingson yesterday
taken in conjunction with previous
visits to the girl and his knowledge of her history.

Assistant District Attorney
mon D. Skillin directed a cross-examination.

Child Over-Developed.
"Have you a complete
the girl's past life?"
Dr. Ball said he complete physical amination and has other specialists.

"She is biol-

New Discovery Limbers Up Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints

Soaks right into tendons and ligaments of your joints—right where the trouble starts—Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

Yes; it's true—the world progresses. All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbe-
having knee joint will lose its
"creak" while you are dreaming
about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one
who has tried the new discovery,

"you'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into the sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good cream,
penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly
as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for both men and women in knee, ankle, arch, hip,
drr. spine or finger, and for that its sale at 60c a tube is a sure

After Hearing Testimony
of Doctor, Dismisses Regular Jury Temporarily.

By the Associated Press.
Judge Harold Louderback adjudged the murder trial of 16-
year-old Dorothy Ellingson from
this afternoon until April 6. A
hearing into the sanity of the girl
who killed her mother was begun.
The Court yesterday dismissed
the regular jury and announced
that a new jury would be impan-
eled today to determine whether
the girl is insane at present.

turn her case had taken. During
the discussions of her sanity she
sat with a white, drawn face. As
she went out for the noon recess,
she wept. At the close of court,
she staggered from her seat and
fell out of the grasp of the matron,
striking her shoulders sharply
against the clerk's desk. Unconscious, she was carried out and revived. It was one more of the

Testimony of Doctor.
A motion by the defense to in-
been decided was granted after the Court had excused the jury and
heard the testimony of Dr. Jau
Don Ball, specialist in mental diseases. He pronounced the girl
"suffering from a psychosis."
Her form of insanity, he explained, was "medical and not le-
the showing of mental incompetency
was sufficient to justify a jury trial.

The psychiatrist said his opinion was based on an examination of Dorothy Ellingson yesterday
taken in conjunction with previous
visits to the girl and his knowledge of her history.

Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillin directed a close
cross-examination.

Child Over-Developed.
"Have you a complete history of the girl's past life?" he asked.
Dr. Ball said he had made a complete physical and mental examination and had conferred with
other specialists.

"She is biologically a grown woman. Psychologically her age is all right for the average of her age. She is overgrown, over-developed. Physically she is older by two years than her age."

He added that the physicians had found no organic defect in the girl.

The prosecution declined an offer by the defense to stipulate that the present jury hear the issue of insanity. The court then held that a new jury must be selected.

SCIENTIST SANITARIUM

Officials Say They Need Not Reply
to Criticisms of John V.
Dittmore.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, March 31.—So far as can be learned there has been no complaint locally about conditions
at the Christian Science Sanitarium
in Brookline, which was criticized by J. V. Dittmore recently in London. There has been no controversy or adverse comment and the Brookline Board of Health has received no complaint.

Some of the practices in regard to treatment of patients, of course,
vary greatly from the general medical method, as evidenced by the report of a woman recently leaving there because they would not allow her the use of a hot-water bottle.

Officers of the sanitarium and church were reluctant to discuss the question because they said
there was no foundation for the Dittmore criticism and no reason why they should be called on to answer any such attack. One officer said the Dittmore charge that a high death rate resulted from failure to segregate patients was absurd because the hospital did not admit contagious or infectious diseases.

A recent London dispatch in the Post-Dispatch told of Dittmore's statement criticizing the Christian Science Sanitarium and stated that he was assisting Mrs. Annie C. Bell in organizing a dissenting Christian Science Church in London.

7 ARRESTED ON LIBEL CHARGE

Illinois Majority Candidate Files Complaint Against Opponents.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 31.—Vincent Pastor, majority aspirant in Westmont, a village west of here,
has caused the arrest of the present Mayor, three village trustees,
his opponents, and three candidates for trustees on charges of criminal libel.

The charges grew out of a hand-
bill, signed "Citizens Committee," which said the village had flourished during Pastor's absence and reflected on his record. Pastor contended the persons he had arrested were responsible for the handbill.

Anti-Narcotic Bill Defeated.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—
The Senate last night defeated the anti-narcotic bill which would have virtually enacted the Federal Harrison Anti-Narcotic act as a Missouri law. The bill had passed the House.

New Discovery Limbers Up Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints

Soaks right into tendons and ligaments of your joints—right where the trouble starts—Then blessed comfort comes quickly.

Yes; it's true—the world progresses.
All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a minute or until it soaks
through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

The chances are that your misbe-
having knee joint will lose its
"creak" while you are dreaming
about the high fences you used to
leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one
who has tried the new discovery,
"Joint-Ease gets out—quick."

It's a good name for a good, clean,
penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can slowly have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for both lame joints.
Whether knee, ankle, arch, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose
its use at 600 a tube is immense.

Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Seventh
and Washington, and Judge & Dolph Drug Stores have a big supply of it and druggists everywhere report a big demand.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in, joint misery gets out—quick.

ADVERTISING Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—exercise. Today it is "Take Marmola Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—these friends tell others. They eat substantial food, live as they like and still reduce steadily and easily without going through long stages of tireless exercise and starvation diet. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar for a box, or if you prefer you can order direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Radio material is brought and sold through Post-Dispatch Wants.

Duke D'Orleans on Way to Canada. By the Associated Press.
ST. JOHN, N. B., March 21.—Duke Charles Philip D'Orleans, nephew of King Albert of Belgium, has arrived here on the steamship Marloch, en route to Saskatchewan, where he plans to purchase land near the Prince of Wales ranch, about which quite a royal colony already has sprung up.

TWO TERRORIST PRISONERS KILLED BY POLISH GUARD

Police Sergeant, Taking Them Back to Russia
for Exchange, Suddenly Shoots Them.

"I HAVE ACTED AS PATRIOT," HE SAYS

Exchange of Prisoners Halted—One of Those Affected Has Awaited Execution 17 Months.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, March 21.—The Terrorist Baginski and Wieroszkiewicz, whom the Polish Government recently agreed to exchange for two Poles under sentence of death to Soviet Russia, were attacked and killed by Police Sergeant Naro Murasko while on the way to the border for the exchange, according to information here.

"Murasko is quoted as declaring that he made the attack in revenge for atrocious treatment he underwent when a resident of Russia. The incident has strongly moved public opinion.

Baginski and Wieroszkiewicz, who formerly held commissions in the Polish Army, were sentenced to death last year on charges of implication in the Warsaw city explosion of October, 1933. Their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment by President Wojciechowski.

"I Have Killed Traitors." The train bearing the two Terrorists to the place of exchange was nearing the Soviet border when Murasko suddenly drew his revolver and fired several times. Baginski was instantly killed and his companion died within a short time.

After the deed, Murasko surrendered to other members of the police guard, exclaiming: "I have acted as a patriot. I have killed two traitors."

When it became known a few days ago that the Polish Government had decided to accept the Soviet offer of an exchange involving the two Terrorists, protests were forthcoming from the Diet and the press. The critics of the government declared it was setting a precedent that would encourage acts of violence by bolshevik agents in Poland.

These critics, however, disapproved Murasko's action, calling it anarchy.

Exchange Halted. The Polish Foreign Office today informed the Soviet government that the proposed exchange had been postponed.

One of the Poles to have been surrendered by the Soviets in the exchange is M. Laszkiewicz, an employee of the Polish consulate at Tiflis. Condemned to death, he had been awaiting execution 17 months. He was on his way toward the Polish frontier, when told that the exchange would not take place.

A Moscow dispatch says the Soviet government has instructed its Minister at Warsaw to protest to Poland against the assassination of the two terrorists.

FAVORS MAKING THIRD STREET DOUBLE-DECKED THOROUGHFARE

A recommendation to make Third street a double-decked street, 100 feet wide, in the downtown district, was made last night by the Committee on Engineering and City Planning of the Safety Council at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

According to the committee's plans the upper deck would be used for automobile traffic, while street cars would be kept on the street level. The committee also recommended curbed in street car right of ways, such as that on Delmar boulevard between Clara avenue and Kingshighway, believing them to save time and mitigate against accidents.

Automatic stop signals were recommended of the type placed in the middle of street intersections, and the committee suggested the patrolling of county highways by a county police force.

SUES LANDLORD FOR $10,000

A. H. Smith instituted suit in the Circuit Court, Belleville, yesterday, for $10,000 damages against Louis Wiskamp of Macoutah avenue. Smith charges trespass. The suit grows out of an argument in a garage which Smith rented from Wiskamp. Wiskamp started to put his own machine in the garage when Smith objected and the landlord, it is alleged, struck and knocked down the tenant. Wiskamp states he rented Smith the garage under an agreement that he was also to store his car in the place. The suit will be tried at the April term of court.

LOHMANN AGAIN DENIED WRIT

Application for an alternative writ of mandamus to compel the Board of Election Commissioners to grant a recount to Alderman Martin D. Lohmann of primary ballots cast March 13 for the Republican nomination for Alderman of the Ninth Ward was denied yesterday by Circuit Judge Miller. A similar application was denied Lohmann last week by the Supreme Court.

BOOTLEGGER WON CLEMENCY AFTER HE HIRED THOMAS

Druggist Testifies He Changed Lawyers After Receiving Jail Sentence From Judge English.

SAYS HE PAID $2500 FEE TO REFEREE

Identifies U. S. Commissioner Frizzell as Man Who Appeared in Court in His Behalf.

The old admonition never to change lawyers in the middle of a case didn't hold in the case of Francis J. Skye, East St. Louis druggist, convicted of bootlegging. On the contrary, Skye got out of serving four months in jail by doing that very thing, although it cost him a $2700 fee.

The court was that of Federal Judge "English." The first lawyer was Charles A. Karch, former United States District Attorney, whom Judge English didn't like. The second lawyer was Referee in Bankruptcy J. B. Thomas, whom Judge English liked very much. In this case it was not even necessary for Thomas to be in court with his client, the testimony showed.

Skye's experience was described yesterday afternoon before the Congressional Committee investigating Judge English's conduct to determine whether he should be impeached. The witnesses were Skye, Forrest Goodfellow, clerk of the court, who produced the records, and Herman Frizzell, United States Commissioner.

Four Months' Sentence.

Skye, a dark, nervous young man with a foreign accent, was tried before a jury and convicted of the illegal possession and sale of liquor. He was represented by Karch and the late Chester J. Krum of St. Louis, to whom he paid a fee of $750, which they divided. Judge English on May 19, 1932, sentenced Skye to serve four months in the Jackson Jail and pay a fine of $500 and the costs.

Karch and Krum agreed to appeal the case for $400. It was at this point that somebody told Skye that it sometimes was the salvation of a man to change lawyers, particularly if he could get the right one. It was whispered to him that Referee Thomas might be the right one in this case. Thomas offered to take the case for $2500, and Skye decided it might be worth the difference. He had two drug stores and couldn't properly serve them from the Jacksonville Jail.

When Judge English had sentenced Skye, the latter had offered no reasons why he should not be sent to jail. After he retained Bankruptcy Referee Thomas, however, two East St. Louis physicians, Dr. Edgar H. Little and Dr. Walter W. Boyne, signed affidavits stating that Skye had myocarditis, a form of heart disease.

Doctors' Statement.

"Any great excitement," the doctors stated, "any great mental depression, any severe shock to the nervous system, could, and probably would, cause the immediate collapse and death of Mr. Skye." They declared that his heart beats ranged all the way from 56 to 121 a minute. "The sad feature of this affliction is that it is incurable," they concluded. But it was their opinion that if he stayed where they could treat him, they might prolong his life much longer than if he were taken away to languish in Jacksonville Jail.

Upon presentation of the affidavits, Judge English in June, 1932, suspended the jail sentence, and in the following December, vacated it entirely. Skye paid the $2500 fine, and he paid Referee Thomas the $2700 fee. In fact, he paid the fee before the sentence was vacated.

Members of the Congressional Committee evinced a deep interest in the proceeding, inviting, and indeed, compelling Skye to go over certain features of the case several times. One of these features was the actual scene at the vacation of the suspended sentence. Sharp and established questioning by Congressman Vilmar and Summers developed that Referee Thomas was not in court at all that day, and that Skye's case had been taken care of by a young man named Frizzell, whom Referee Thomas officed.

"What Can I Do?"

"And you were perfectly willing to entrust this important matter to a young man you had never seen before?" remarked Congressman Vilmar. "How can I know how important it is?" the trembling witness replied.

"You know how important it is to any man of jail for four months."

HOUSE SHATTERS FINAL DRIVE FOR BOOST IN TAXES

Attempt by Administration Forces to Revive One of Baker's Measures Is Quickly Squelched.

SENATE TAX RATE
MEASURE PASSED

Effort to Reconsider Vote
by Which Proposed Change in Income Collection Was Beaten Fails.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—
A futile effort was made by administration forces in the House
late yesterday to revive one of Gov.
Baker's dying tax increase measures, by tacking onto a Senate tax rate bill an amendment increasing the property tax levy for general State purposes from five to seven cents on the $100 assessed valuation. The opposition was so great that the amendment hastily was withdrawn.

Representative Winter (Rep.),
speaker pro tem, declared this action placed the first of the House on the administration tax increase bills. The amendment offered, and then withdrawn, would have accomplished what was proposed in one of the three bills. The other two Baker measures, also abandoned, provide 50 per cent increases in the State income tax rate
and the corporation franchise rate.
The Senate bill then was passed by the House 129 to 6. The bill fixes the property tax at five cents, the rate now in effect, and levies an additional cent on the $100 assessed valuation, to pay the interest on the certificates of indebtedness of the State to the public school funds.

AN unsuccessful attempt was made late yesterday to reconsider
the vote by which the Senate bill, putting teeth into the State income tax law, was defeated in the House Saturday night. The reconsideration motion carried, but the bill
was badly beaten on the final vote, falling 21 votes short of the required constitutional majority of 76.

This bill, a Democratic caucus measure in the Senate, would have transferred supervision of the income tax collection from the State Auditor to the St. Louis Tax Commission, giving the commission incidental powers and a staff of field agents for checking up returns and tax evasions. It also provided drastic penalties for failure to pay the State income tax.

CAUTIOUS BUYING REPORTED
IN TWENTH RESERVE DISTRICT

Purchases Are Frequent But in Small Quantities—General Optimism for Spring and Summer.

Stocks of goods in all positions continue of moderate size throughout the Eighth Federal Reserve District, and the public is buying in heavy volume, even though cautiously and in small quantities at a time, says the monthly review of business conditions issued today by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

"Manufacturers and wholesalers report frequent and small orders,"
the review continues. "The aggregate of which represents a large volume, but the cost of doing business on this piece-meal basis is high, and profits are not unsatisfactory." General optimism relative to prospects for the spring and summer is reported. This is based chiefly on greatly improved conditions in the rural sections, the high level of employment, strength of the banking and financial status
and the strong purchasing power of the public as indicated by the record of savings deposits, debits to individual accounts and high wage scales.

Depressed conditions and a lower price trend are reported as still featuring the coal situation in virtually all the leading fields in the district. Railroads operating in the district are reported to be continuing to accommodate a volume of freight traffic larger than ever recorded for the season.

Minority Party
IN POWER OR G. O. P.
RULE DISCUSSED

Igoe and Miller Speak to Overflow Crowds and Latter Makes Attack on Nonpartisan Plea.

DEMOCRAT EXPECTS
"ALERT OPPOSITION"

If Elected, Igoe Says He Wants Opposing Party to Point Out Errors in Judgment and Weakness.

The majority campaign resolved itself last night into a discussion of whether a minority party representation or a solid phalanx
of Republicans in official positions would best serve the interests of the city for the next four years.
The leaders of the opposing sides
were, of course, the standard bearers of the Democratic and Republican parties, William L. Igoe and Victor J. Miller, respectively.

Both spoke at overflow gatherings. Igoe presented his appeal to a crowd which filled Kulage's Hall, Warne and Kosuth avenues, to the doors and then stepped into the side yard to repeat his address to those who could not get in the hall.
This was in the Twenty-first Ward.
Miller delivered his principal address at Euclid Hall, Euclid and McPherson avenues, and attacked the issue of nonpartisanship which is a central plank of the Democratic platform. He said the Democratic machine was incapable of non-partisanship and that the people had not seen fit to place it in power
here for 16 years. This address was delivered in the Twenty-fifth Ward. The narrow hall of the hall forced him to speak again to an overflow crowd.

Congressman Newton Speaks.

Congressman Cleveland A. Newton took up where Miller surrendered the burden and called for an undivided responsibility in the municipal government. He said the election of a Democrat would serve no useful purpose and that experience showed that a party responsibility did not promote progress in public affairs. In support of this statement he pointed to the curtailment of the efforts of "a great President by an unfriendly Congress controlled by a combination of radicals and Democrats." He carried on to Jefferson City and presented the picture of a Republican Governor and a Republican Mayor, and asked what they could accomplish with a Democratic Senate doing all in its power to make sure that the Republican administration was not a success.

"If you are seeking accomplishment you must fix official responsibility and thus remove the temptation to play politics for political advantage," Congressman Newton said.

Igoe's Argument.

Igoe emphasized his pledge of a nonpartisan administration and the need for a "bureaucratic machine" in municipal affairs to "provide the checks and balances needed to preserve the best interests of the public."

"There are some people who seem to think that no government of St. Louis is possible unless one party is in complete control at the city hall," he said. "They forget, apparently, that the biggest and best Government in the whole world, the Government of the United States, has throughout the history of this country been the joint product of majorities and minorities." Experience justifies the practice of furnishing checks
and balances in every kind of government. The charter of the city of St. Louis specifies and requires that the membership of certain boards and commissions must be bipartisan. The purpose of this is plain. No one party can maintain control of government indefinitely
without losing some sense of responsibility to all the people of the community.

"Those who attempt to justify domination of government by a single party, and to exclude minorities from a part in the making and enforcement of laws, pretend that their wish is to prevent conflicts between the majority and the minority. Of course, this is a specious argument. Opposition is necessary, or, usually mean conflict.
On the contrary a wholesome
and intelligent opposition is necessary to the perfection of legislation and the impartiality of its enforcement."

Expected Alert Opposition.

"If I am elected Mayor of St. Louis
I shall expect to have the advantage of an intelligent and alert opposition. I shall depend upon that opposition to point out every error of judgment or weakness in my administration. I shall in proposals that are made for legislation or administration policies. In fact, I shall invite co-operation with those of the Republi-

Excavation of Carthage Begins With Ceremony

Work Started on Ocean Side of Spot Where Dido Is Supposed to Have Founded City.

Following is another of the series of articles to be published by the Post-Dispatch on the Prorok expedition in northern Africa, expected to result in some of the most important of archaeological discoveries of recent years.

EXCAVATION CAMP CARTHAGE, March 31.—The Franco-American expedition's excavations of the site believed to cover the ancient forum of Carthage was formally inaugurated yesterday afternoon.

With a gilded pick formed to represent the sign of the Punic goddess Tanit, and under the fluttering colors of America and France, the expedition's pennant, the Grand Duchess Marie Pavlova of Russia turned the first earth where an antique column jutted out from the soil. The Countess de Witte, then broke a bottle of champagne over the column in the presence of prominent local officials, all the members of the expedition and the staff and many American tourists.

The real digging will begin tomorrow on this site with 60 men. It is the first large scale and thoroughly scientific attempt to uncover the glory that was Carthage.

Delicate negotiations for securing the land for the excavations from real estate dealers who have bent on rebuilding Carthage once more
as a suburban town have hitherto confined the expedition's energies
here to work at the sanctuary of Tanit and the hill of Juno. Yesterday a deal was closed by which three acres was obtained at the foot of the Byrsa or citadel where tradition says Dido founded the city, on the side looking towards the ancient port, or rather where ports are believed to have been,
for no one yet knows the positive topography of Carthage. It is one of the expedition's objects to settle the controversies over these subjects by digging down to the facts.

Distinguished guests yesterday included Baron Rodolphe d'Erlan-ger, Prince Jean Louis de Faugny, the local Governor Saladin Bac-couche, Mrs. Challes Wiltside, representing Rochester University, which is one of the backers of the expedition, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whittle of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs.

can Archaeological Society, and Miss Miller of Cincinnati.

a matter of fact Mr. Miller was riding about in cars at night and falsely to the newspapers of his great achievements the next day

The following meetings of "Igoe-

night: Sixth Ward, 506 Market

ette avenue; Tenth Ward, 3105
Lemp avenue; Fourteenth Ward, 3117 South Grand boulevard;
Eighteenth Ward, Dodder Hall, Twentieth and Dodder streets, and Twentieth Ward, 4319 Easton avenue.

Igoe's principal meeting tonight
will be at North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets. The First and Second wards are sponsoring the meetings and the largest gathering of the campaign is expected.

Miller will speak at three meetings tonight, Congressman Newton
at two and Congressman Dyer at one.

Ward, Leidel Theater, 3900 South

PELLAGRA "YIELDS TO YEAST"

U. S. Public Health Service Doctor Announces Discovery.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Pel-lagra, dread disease of rural communities, has been found to yield to dry brewers' yeast. Dr. Joseph Goldberger of the Public Health Service, in announcing the discovery, said experiments would be conducted this summer at the Georgia State Sanitarium to determine the element in this yeast
which already has brought about cures. The discovery followed eight years of study. Pellagra, prevalent chiefly in the South, is disclosed in its milder forms by such symptoms as emaciation, lassitude
and eruption of the skin, and in severe cases by insanity and death.
The brewers' yeast was found first to cure black tongue in dogs. Dr.
Goldberger said, and further experiments led to the discovery of its effectiveness against pellagra.
Dry brewers' yeast, he pointed out,
differs somewhat from bakers'
yeast and a much larger quantity of the latter is required to provide the element that cures pellagra.

Opposes Renewal of Gold Coinage.

BUS BILL AFTER EXEMPTING CITIES

Act Goes to Senate for Concurrence in Amendments
and Probably Will Go to Conference.

MANY APPARENT
CONFLICTS IN BILL

Measure Limits Control of State Commission to Busses Operating on State Highways.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 31.—
The McCawley motorbus bill, placing bus lines in Missouri under the control and regulation of the Missouri Public Service Commission, was passed by the House late yesterday, after an amendment was adopted that excludes St. Louis and other large cities from provisions of the act. The vote was 83 to 37.

The House amended the bill already passed by the Senate to a point where it hardly is recognizable in its original form, and is filled with inconsistencies.

The bill will be returned to the Senate for concurrence in the amendments. It is expected the Senate will reject many of the amendments, which will result in the bill being placed in the hands of a Conference Committee.

Amendment to Bill.

City representatives opposed to sections of the bill depriving cities
of control over use of their streets
by busses, succeeded after two days
of debate in excluding the cities
from provisions of the act.

This was done through an amendment by Representative Davidson of St. Louis, which has the effect of limiting the Public Service's supervision to bus lines operating on State highways under the control of the State Highway Commission and maintained by State funds. That would limit the supervision to the 744-mile State highway system, and exclude the cities
as well as county roads not a part of the State system.

The House left in the bill an amendment from the paragraph
which has been the center of controversy between the United Railways and Peoples Motor Bus Co. of St. Louis. That paragraph, as originally drafted, apparently gave the United Railways the right to operate bus lines in competition with the Peoples bus lines. It was amended so that the street railway
could operate busses only as lines
supplementary to the street car lines. Both factions declared the amended section satisfactory.

However, the Davidson amendment apparently leaves the commission in the position of being authorized to regulate bus lines in St.
Louis under one section, but elsewhere in the bill barred from regulating any busses except those operating on State highways outside the cities.

Power to Revoke License.

Another amendment gives the commission authority to revoke, at any time, any certificate of necessity issued to a bus line, when the bus company fails to comply with regulations, or fails to furnish adequate service.

All but five of the 19 St. Louis representatives voted for the bill,
as amended. Representatives Goodenough, Nettle and Riedinger voted against it, and Representatives Hule and Spellman were not recorded.

SCIENTISTS CLAIM FILTER
MAKES X-RAY HARMLESS

French Invention Is Said to Open
New Possibilities in Treatment of Cancer.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 31.—A filter which it is claimed will make X-rays harmless and cure radio-dermatitis, the disease which has mutilated or killed many scientists using the rays, was described to the Academy of Sciences last night by Daniel Berthelot. The filter is the invention of two French scientists, J. Ristler and P.
Mondain.

The inventors had the idea of using the antagonism of the infrared rays toward the radiations of shorter wave length. Living tissues subjected to X-rays and then exposed to the action of the infra-red rays showed no signs of radio-dermatitis nor any essential modification. The inventors further claim to have cured physicians suffering from radio-dermatitis
after three or four applications of their system.

They use a filter of plastic material which allows only the red and yellow rays to pass. The discovery is of especial interest because of the possibilities it opens up for the treatment of cancer by X-rays, which could thus be freed of their harmful radiations.

Druggist Testifies He Changed Lawyers After Receiving Jail Sentence
From Judge English.

SAYS HE PAID $2500
FEE TO REFEREE

Identifies U. S. Commissioner Frizzell as Man Who Appeared in Court
in His Behalf.

Bootlegger Testifies This Court
Official Got His Jail Term Vacated

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

HERMAN P. FRIZZELL.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER in Judge English's Court, who denies he appeared for Druggist Skye when Judge English vacated the bootlegger's jail sentence after payment of a $2500 fee to Bankruptcy Referee Thomas. Skye looked at Commissioner Frizzell, at the Congressional Committee hearing yesterday, and, in identifying him, said: "Sure, I didn't know him before but I know him now."

Judge English appointed Frizzell as United States Commissioner four days after the young man was admitted to practice in Federal Court. Frizzell figures in the Department of Justice expose as a member of the "bankruptcy ring."

As United States Commissioner he is a subordinate Judge, holding preliminary hearings in criminal cases in the Federal Court.

don't you?" "Sure, but what can I do?"

"Well, you had paid a $2500 fee, why didn't you insist that your high-priced counsel be in court?"
suggested the Congressman from Arkansas. "I don't know; I didn't,"
was the reply.

United States Commissioner Frizzell, a young man, who occupied a room in Thomas' suite and received many lucrative appointments from him as attorney for trustees and receivers, was called to the stand and asked if he had accompanied Skye to court the day Judge English vacated the jail sentence.

"I did not," was the reply.

"Let's settle this,"
"Skye is here; let's settle this thing," suggested Congressman Christopherson. "Is this the man who went with you to court?"
he called out to Skye, who had taken a seat among the spectators.

"I think so," Skye replied, standing up.

"Come on up and take a good look at him," Congressman Christopherson commanded. The little druggist came up and leaned over neering into Commissioner Frizzell's face. Then he started back toward his seat. "Sure, I didn't know him before, but I know him
now," he announced.

"He says he thinks it was me,"
said Commissioner Frizzell, with an apologetic smile.

Removal of Receiver and Appointment of Thomas Related.

The removal of F. D. Borah of Fairfield, Ill., as receiver of the Shedd Coal Co. and the subsequent appointment of Charles E. Thomas, who, according to testimony, was Federal Judge English's "standing receiver," was related late yesterday to the congressional committee investigating the conduct of Judge English.

Records of the case in the District Clerk's office were introduced,
after which Borah took the witness stand. He testified that Judge English appointed him receiver of the company, a $100,000 concern owning mines in Williamson County,
when application was made in February, 1924. His appointment, he testified, was made at the request of the majority of creditors.
Thomas was made attorney for the receiver by Judge English.

Borah testified that in the five months he served as receiver of the company he endeavored to put the mines on a working basis and related he obtained a loan of $13-000 with which to make necessary improvements. In July he received notice to show cause why he should not be removed as receiver. A motion for his removal had been filed before Judge English, its basis being that he was inefficient and was not devoting his time to his duties as receiver.

On the day set for hearing on the motion Borah resigned with the understanding that the petition for his removal be withdrawn. He related yesterday.

Thomas was appointed by Judge English to succeed Borah and served until he resigned the five receiverships and two attorneyship for receivers last January, after the Post-Dispatch revealed that an investigation was being made of Judge English and himself.

What Thomas did as receiver for this company and what salary he received was not revealed. W. S.
Wilson of Pinckneyville, a co-receiver with Thomas of the Southern Gem Coal Corporation, testified that Thomas received $1000 a month for 13 months for "looking after the lawyers" in the Southern Gem case.

LOANS FOR MILITARY USES

President Would Have American Citizens Concentrate on Stabilizing Conditions Abroad.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Private American loans abroad are discouraged by President Coolidge
in case where the money is to go into military armament or similar governmental expenses among European countries.

Mr. Coolidge is equally fixed,
however, in the belief that American citizens should do all in their power to restore normal economic conditions
through stabilization of currency,
rehabilitation of commercial enterprises and other forms of legiti-mate peace measures. The President draws a distinction, so far as the Government's interest is in question, between loans made by private individuals to foreign governments and those similarly made to private corporations or individuals abroad. Loans to governments are of interest in Washington because of the uses to which the funds are to be put, and American prospective investors in foreign governmental securities who inquire at the State Department find that such loans are frowned upon if they are to go into support of military establishments.

ROME, March 31.—Two oppo-

the week-end, the Social Democrats and the Unitarian Socialists.
The Social Democrats, with more than 112,000 inscribed members, led by Deputy Amendola, are the backbone of the Deputies boycot-

long order of the day representing the party's aspirations in view of the general elections, for which a date is yet to be set.

The chief points of their program are a free regime guaranteed
by independent administration of justice, economy, guarantee of trade union professional unions,
military organization limited to defense, and a foreign policy aimed at peace in Europe and co-operation with the League of Nations.

The Unitarian Socialists also deliberated on the present situation, but were not entirely agreed about whether to quit boycotting the

AN ENTERTAINING Frederick O'Brien some 15 years in using the "Rain" as a literary misadventure. Herman Melville related with horror how white men had descended like a pestilence upon the gentle and innocent Polynesians. It is difficult to decide for which the author of "Typee" and "Omoo" entertained the fiercer loathing—the traders and sailors who introduced rum and disease into that idyllic region, or the faintly that idyllic region, who, charged, stripped the natives of their wreaths of flowers, shrouded the beauty of their bodies in overalls and mother hubbards, and corrupted their hearts with a species of witchcraft more virulent than their own.

The genius of the islands—symbolized by a tropical downpour which took an endless and malignant monotone—rises in vengeance against a missionary in "Rain," a drama which John Colton and Clemence Randolph erected upon a short story by W. Somerset Maugham, and which, with Miss Jeanne Eagels as star, had its first night at the American, before one of the largest theater audiences of the season.

A Ferocious Man of God.

As the story is told, the instincts of the Rev. Alfred Davidson have been so debauched by his holy rearing that, his wife tells us, he should be merely a spiritual relation. Having a perfect command of pious cant, he describes this perversion as a dedication of pure service to God. Thwarted in one respect, his furious emotional faculties erupt in acts of cruelty and ferocity which appear to him as sacred duties before the Lord. In the South Sea Islands, he and his brothers of the cloth have re-established that pitiless therapy which once held its reign of terror in New England.

He boasts of bullying the officers of the secular arm with threats of punishment through the power of his sect at Washington. He brags of driving the natives into the fold of the church by means of his ability to bring them to the verge of starvation, by depriving them of rights in the fisheries and copra industry. And there was the Scandinavian trader who was guilty of the heinous sin of laughing at this man of God. In two years he was ruined, the missionary gloats; the colossal shrunk into a helpless invalid, and the wealthy merchant became a beggar. All these, the preachers, were works meet for the Lord.

A Freudian Experiment.

If Providence were a disciple of Prof. Freud, it could not have arranged a more clutching psychological experiment than that which, by accident, brings the Rev. Mr. Davidson under the same roof with Sadie Thompson in Joe Horn's hotel at Pago Pago, on the island of Tutuila, Sade, a swaggering, flamboyant and bedraggled nymph, with a raucous alcoholic contralto, has been driven from Honolulu by the closing of the disorderly district, and is voyaging beyond the equator in quest of fields less perturbed. The very sight of this member of Aphrodite's sorority drives the clergyman beside himself, though at first he does not know why. His emotional rage expresses itself in a lust for inflicting pain. A firm believer in what Dr. McPhail describes as the eleventh commandment, "Thou shalt not commit venery," he dashes into the room where Sadie is dancing with friends of the Marine Corps to her battered phonograph, flings the instrument to the floor, denounces her as a seditious woman, and is hurled out as his head by the outraged soldiers of the sea.

In his subconscious jealousy of Sgt. O'Hara, who wishes to take Sadie with him to Sydney and marry her, the clergyman has him locked in the guardhouse. He browbeats the Governor into signing an order deporting Sadie to San Francisco, though he learns that on her return she will be sent to prison under an old charge. As the days pass, the parson's essential motive grows too clear even for him to misunderstand. He cries out in his sleep, and tells his wife he has been dreaming of the hills, the smooth, rounded hills of Nebraska—a libido which Dr. McPhail, an accomplished psychoanalyst, deciphers in an instant.

Davidson resolves to redeem Sadie's soul, and wrestles with her. His mighty prayers until even her bold and cynical spirit is broken. It is not the first time—as the Monk Athaniel discovered in the "Thale" of Anatole France—that amorous love has masked itself behind piety. Still intent in making the girl suffer for his own anguish, he tells her that, as an atonement to God, she must return and serve

HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

MRS. JOHN HILL MCKINNEY of Detroit, formerly Miss Dorothy Pilot of St. Louis, will go to New York this week to be married at the wedding of her sister, Miss Rosalie Stuyvesant Pilot, and Lewis Rutherford Stuyvesant, son of Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant, which will take place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in St. Thomas Church. A small reception at the home of the bride's father, Peter Stuyvesant Pilot, 116 East Fifty-sixth street, will follow the ceremony, which will be performed by Bishop Herbert Shipman, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stire. Miss Virginia Ryan will be maid of honor and Miss Nancy Potter, Phyllis Benckard, Frances McKeever and Barbara Brook, all of New York, bridesmaids. Mr. Stuyvesant will take his bride south for a honeymoon trip, and later they will meet his mother and brother in Paris and will tour the world.

Mrs. Marion Smith Fraser, daughter of H. T. Smith, of Kingsbury place, and her children John and Patricia, have taken a house at Colorado Springs, Colo., for the summer, and will leave St. Louis June 1. Mr. Smith and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Y. West of Little Rock, Ark., will spend June 4 for Europe. They will spend six weeks in England and Scotland, and will be by airplane from London to Paris, to be there until August. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold V. Morrow, the latter of whom was Miss Elsie Smith, will spend part of the summer at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Boyesson, who have been the guests for a few days of Mrs. Boyesson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. August E. Ewing of 4818 Pershing avenue, departed yesterday for their home in St. Paul. They were accompanied by Mrs. Boyesson's mother, Mrs. David Day, who has been visiting the Ewings this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Boyesson have just returned from a two months honeymoon tour through California. Mrs. Boyesson was Miss Alice Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moon of 5510 Waterman avenue will have a cottage at Plum Lake, Wis., for the summer, and will depart for that resort early in July.

Mrs. George C. Hitchcock of 5563 Waterman avenue, and her son, Elisha Allen Hitchcock, are at the Chatham Hotel in New York, where they went to join Mrs. Hitchcock's daughter, Miss Mary, a student atassar College, and Miss Anne, who attends Barnard College, for the spring vacation. Later they will go to Washington, D. C., for a short visit. Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Erbenfest are also at the Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gale Barstow of 5401 Cabanne avenue are with Mr. Barstow's mother, Mrs. Charles W. Barstow, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace D. Simmons, of the Gateways place, during the absence of the Simmons family in Hot Springs, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Standard of Brentwood returned home Sunday from a winter's tour of California.

her sentence, whether innocent or guilty. Then comes the night, with the rain sounding its knell and the ghostly music of a witch dance, shivering from a distant jungle, when the clergyman's long-suppressed psychic bursts into letters, and he steals into Sadie's room. Two hours later the wretched man flees out upon the beach and cuts his throat. His is the tragedy of the play, which Sadie sums up in the words: "I'm sorry for everybody, but I'm not sorry for myself. A quaint present from somebody, no doubt about that."

Regarding Miss Eagels' performance as Sadie Thompson, it impresses one as being far more convincing and brilliant than that of Edwige Fenech in a similar role in "Anna Christie." It is at once a feat of virtuosity and of naturalness. She rises to magnificent rage in her early outbursts against the clergyman, though the original language has been expurgated; and to touching and fragile when his tempestuous orisons have worn her down to helplessness.

Production Nearly Perfect. In casting, settings and production, "Rain" approaches perfection. As commentators on the clergyman's case we have Dr. McPhail, played by Fritz Williams, representing the scientific spirit; and the old beachcomber, Joe Horn, who has worked out a philosophy of idleness, and who contemplates the catastrophe with amused detachment from the heights of Nietzsche. There is Katherine Brook's Mrs. Davidson, grim, austere and cruel, who, however, once bursts out in longing for the children whom her husband's crazy spirituality has denied to her. Finally, there is Robert Kelly's shabby figure of Davidson, with a mad touch of greatness in his honest bigotry and his facility for towering passion.

The play is not only powerful drama; it is scientifically sound and intellectually upright, and therefore one of the greatest achievements recently beheld on the stage. One of its singular transvaluations is the manner in which quotations from the Bible, once the most sacred words in the language, here turn into revolting imitations, while the clergyman's rolling prayers descend from his room like monstrous blasphemies.

MISS MARTHA STRICKLER.

MISS STRICKLER, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Strickler of 724 Kingsland avenue, is at home from Pine Manor, Wellesley, Mass., for the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Nulsen of Hotel Chase will depart Friday for New York to sail on the Leviathan for a three months' stay in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bernard Behr of 414 North Union boulevard, are expected home Sunday from a month's sojourn in Texas.

Mrs. Oliver Abel of University City was guest of honor at a bridge luncheon given Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Haas of 1133 Kingsbury boulevard. Other parties are to be given in Mrs. Abel's honor by Mrs. Winton Barker, 7125 Kingsbury boulevard; Mrs. Charles Weber of Yale avenue, and Mrs. William H. Allen of 7091 Waterman avenue.

There will be a community dinner tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in the parish house of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Goodfellow and Cates avenues, followed by an address by the Rev. John S. Bunting. The proceeds will go to the Lenten social service work which is being conducted by the Women's Guild of the church.

Mrs. Homer E. Bailey of 5903 Cates avenue and Mrs. Tom Brown of Chamberlain avenue will be hostesses to the Cornelia Greene Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution tomorrow afternoon in the ballroom of the Gateways Hotel. There will be musical program following the business meeting.

Miss Doris Allen of Providence, R. I., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George W. Gladding of 6010 Waterman avenue.

Cadorna Speaks on Italian Army.

ROME, March 21.—Marshal Cadorna, former Chief of Staff of the Italian Army, spoke in the Senate yesterday for the first time since the war. Premier Mussolini attentively followed his speech. The war Minister, Gen. Digiorio, also hung on Cadorna's words, taking notes of the criticisms which were against his reform bill. Cadorna especially opposed the lack of precision in determining the strength of the army and the general tendency in the reform plans to limit the Italian army to 300,000 men, but also a strong and well trained army, capable of holding the line.

Japanese Diet Session Ends.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, March 21.—The session of the Imperial Diet closed today. Its enactment of the manhood suffrage bill and the reform of the House of Peers is regarded as the most important political development since establishment of the constitution. The press predicts that the suffrage bill, which becomes effective at the next elections, three years hence, will exert a powerful effect on the composition and methods of the lower House, if the Labor Party, now organizing, makes itself felt in the election.

MONTE CARLO HARDER

Old-Time Courtesy Is Replaced by Strict Methods of Modern Business.

MONTE CARLO, March 5.—This is the tale told by the fleeced lamb who emerges from the Monte Carlo Casino, shivering in the cold world of reality. Whether it is true that the new Monte Carlo is actually so different from that of the good old days, who can say? But that the lamb now bleats in a different tone of voice is a fact that the visitor to the Riviera may confirm for himself.

The difference between the good old days and the bad new days has nothing to do with the fact of the fleecing, but with the way it is done. The visitor used to be fleeced as a gentleman. Now, he is fleeced as ordinary live stock.

In the good old days—say, before 1922—the visitor entered the casino and was greeted by gentlemen in morning coats, offered him a calling card or his passport for inspection, paid a small fee for an admission card and was pompously ushered into the den of sin. There the noble oblige of gamblers was the law. One might play 5 francs or 5000. One might study the wheel and stroll off without playing. One might make a lucky win and walk away without feeling he was a "bum sport." When one gave a tip to the croupier it was received with courteous bow.

Then Methods Changed. But about two years ago, the lamb has heard, the famous, the mysterious Sir Basil Zahorsky bought a majority of the stock in the gambling syndicate which goes by the innocent name of Sea Bathing club (Societe des Bains de Mer). It must have cost him dear, for stock in this corporation used not to be quoted on the Bourse, it was so expensive. Anyway, this time the technique of shearing was suddenly modernized.

The admission fee has been raised to the highest point the traffic will bear. The gentlemen in morning coats do not care a dash if you are a bum with elbows emerging from sleeves so long as you have a bank roll. Once inside the den of sin you have to sink quickly and get out when your money is gone.

No longer may you stand for hours before the wheel in thoughtful attitude and work out your "system." You are approached by one of the morning coats and informed that the betting club is not bathing for its health. No longer do the croupiers pass 20 francs into the croupier or "kitty." Rather they pass the "kitty" to you and tell you how much to contribute. For they, too, poor dears, are ground under the iron heel of the new system. Sir Basil, it would seem, has demanded a share of the "kitty." It is unportsmanlike, say the croupiers, and pass the cost to the ultimate consumer, the tourist.

Oh! So Very Different. No longer does the visitor emerge saying to himself: "Well, well! So that is Monte Carlo! Won't Aunt Matilda be shocked when I tell her! Been gambling among English Lords and the cream of the bon-ton. There certainly aren't many members of my church who ever lost $50 at Monty. That was money well spent." No, nowadays the emerging lamb bleats: "That sure is a well-organized boob-trap, and I'm the grand Imperial boob. Could have spent a whole day at Palm Beach for the price of five minutes at Monte Carlo." And the final insult! In the good old days, when you lost all your jack at the wheel, the Prince of Monte Carlo gave you a second-class ticket to your home, and sandwich money for the trip. Now you are kicked out and left to starve.

EX-ST. LOUISAN GETS D. S. C.
EXPLOIT IN CIVIL WAR

Gen. John A. Kress Also Is Cited for Routing Indians With Gunboat in 1878. Belated recognition of his valor by the War Department has come at last to Gen. John A. Kress, former St. Louisan, who, at 85, was decorated a few days ago with the Silver Star Citation and the Distinguished Service Cross for deeds of bravery performed 47 and 63 years ago respectively. For the last three years Gen. Kress has resided in Merion, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

On Dec. 13, 1862, Kress, then a Lieutenant-Colonel in command of the Ninety-fourth New York Volunteers, led a valiant assault of Union soldiers upon the Confederate forces at Fredericksburg, shattering their lines. A year later he was again commended by Gen. Meade for spectacular exploits at Gettysburg.

In 1878, a few years after the Custer disaster, when the Platte-Bannock Indians of the Northwest were threatening an invasion of frontier settlements, he seized and armed a gunboat and put the marauders to flight. Gen. Kress, who left West Point in 1861 to enter the Union army, was the first president of the St. Louis Association of West Pointers and is now an honorary president. He has two sons in military service.

RUDOLF STEINER, GOETHEAN
LEADER, DIES IN SWITZERLAND

He Became Follower of Ideals of Goethe Early in Life—Had Many Followers. By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, March 21.—News of the death of Dr. Rudolf Steiner, in Switzerland, was received in Berlin yesterday. Dr. Steiner was 67 years old and was leader of the anthroposophical movement which has headquarters at Dornach, in the Alps.

The Goetheanum, temple of the organization, which was burned in January, 1923, just after Dr. Steiner had delivered a lecture, was about to be rebuilt. This had caused much controversy, as many of the Swiss people held that the plans were too fantastic and the building would mar the mountain, which was the place of the battle in 1499 when the Swiss won their freedom by defeating the army of the Swabian league.

Dr. Steiner was born in Krailovic, Silesia, and early became a follower of the ideals of Goethe. He had a large following throughout the world. The building erected at Dornach was dedicated to the memory of Goethe. It was a vast double domed structure, noted for the originality of its design and the great variety of carvings in the interior. It was built entirely of wood at a cost of 5,000,000 Swiss francs.

ORCHESTRA GETS OVATION

St. Louis Symphony Gives Two Concerts in Shreveport, La. Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SHREVEPORT, La., March 21.—For the third time since 1917 the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra got an ovation in Shreveport. The organization appeared here yesterday afternoon and last night, under the auspices of the music department of the Woman's Department Club.

The afternoon recital in the Fair Grounds Coliseum was attended by music students from several colleges in this part of North Louisiana, and was especially arranged for their benefit, opening with the Rossini Overture to "William Tell" and closing with the "Blue Danube" waltz. Max Steindel, cellist, gave the "Hungarian fantasia" by Poppo. Director Ganz, at the night concert, gave two extra numbers. Soloists during the evening were Clara, who played the A Major concerto of Liszt, and Helen Traubel, soprano, who sang the aria, "Pleuraz Pleurez," from "Le Cid."

ST. LOUISAN IS HELD IN ALLEGED 'SERUM PLOT'

Cleveland Doyle, 4127 North Grand, Is Arrested as Insurance Plotter.

Cleveland Doyle, 40 years old, proprietor of a rooming house at 4127 North Grand boulevard, was arrested by Postoffice Inspector Burt and three city detectives at his home at 8:30 o'clock last night in connection with the alleged "serum plot," in which a dozen or more persons in Ripley County are alleged to have obtained by fraud settlements from insurance companies and corporations for fake injuries.

Doyle's arrest followed the return to St. Louis of Postoffice Inspector Burt from Doniphan, Mo., where he had been engaged in an extensive investigation of the conspiracy and had traced Doyle to St. Louis. Doyle is being held for the Federal authorities and a warrant charging use of the mails to defraud will be sought today.

An amount approaching $50,000 is said to have been obtained through the use of the "serum" and the case has attracted widespread attention. The practice, according to the officers, consisted of injecting a liquid, believed to be largely turpentine, into the arms and legs of persons claiming to pose as injured and present claims for damages. Experts who have been employed by insurance companies and other interested concerns to investigate the nature of the serum assert it has the property of rendering the bone pliable and causing swelling and discoloration.

Upon entering Doyle's home last night, Inspector Burt said, he caught sight of two men with bandaged arms, but these quickly disappeared. Doyle is alleged to have been a co-conspirator of Emanuel Gartner of Doniphan, who was arrested three months ago and is now under bond to answer charges before two Federal grand juries, one of which will convene at Cape Girardeau and the other at Little Rock, Ark.

ECUMENICAL COUNCIL, HALTED IN 1870, MAY BE RESUMED

Inference Contained in Pope's Lengthy Reference to Session Held at Nice.

Rome, March 31.—Indications of the ecumenical council which was interrupted by the entry of Italian troops in Rome in 1870 will be resumed soon, was contained in the Pope's allocutions at yesterday's consistory.

This was inferred from the Pope's lengthy reference to the council of Nice, the sixteenth century of which he ordered commemorated this year.

An ecumenical council which is a great event unites all Bishops and Archbishops, Cardinals and Patriarchs, under the presidency of the Pope, for the consideration of major problems of the church, including dogma and discipline. The date has not been set but it is known that Vatican officials already have been tentatively beginning the laborious preparatory work. It is generally supposed the council will be held in 1927 or 1928.

Pope Pius XI has waited until general conditions were fairly settled before even suggesting resumption of the council. The allocation contained no reference to Premier Herriot's "bankers' Christianity" speech which some expected. The Pope confined himself to expressing pleasure at the success of Holy Year and the missionary exposition, ordering commemoration of the council of Nice and urging progress toward attainment of the two great practical aims of his pontificate—religious unity and civil peace.

The Pope's omission of any reference to the burning controversy with the French Government is considered in Vatican circles to be due to his unwillingness to seek to enter into a public discussion with a political leader. It is said that the Pope feels too deeply that M. Herriot's policy is unjust that he spoke he would speak with terrific vigor, in accordance with his forceful personality.

FORBES HAS TROPICAL DISEASE

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, March 31.—Mrs. Marie Forbes Judkins, sister of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former Director of the Veterans' Bureau, who is ill in a Boston hospital with paralysis, said last night that the condition of Col. Forbes was due in part to a tropical infection suffered in the course of a mission to Central America under the direction of President Harding.

Mrs. Judkins asserted that Col. Forbes had been wronged, dishonored and "corrupted" on the cross of public inquiry, adding that "his health already impaired by a disgraceful plot to destroy his reputation, Col. Forbes had been forced to testify before the Senate investigating committee when it was necessary to halt proceedings to administer medical treatment." She said that he was physically unable to answer accusers and was unable to defend himself before a jury in Chicago which convicted him of conspiracy.

Baku Oil Trust Imitates

By LOUIS FISCHER.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the Brooklyn
Daily Eagle.

MOSCOW, March 31.—To the average Russian—indeed to practically every Russian—America is surrounded by a sort of glorified haze or halo. America—he rarely says the United States—is the giant country of the golden West. He will believe anything about it.

I have had people ask me whether buildings did not have 10 floors below the ground, whether there were not six strata of subways, one beneath the other, in New York City. They had heard it and they had credited it and they were disappointed to hear that it was not quite true.

As much as official Russia hates Henry Ford, because he is the outstanding representative of aggressive capitalism, they worship his methods. His autobiography was for many months the best seller in Moscow. "We will improve our technique," communists tell you. "We will work for Fordsky!"—a la Ford, in other words.

The Baku Oil Trust is copying American methods of petroleum exploitation and refining. Russian professors are sent to the United States to study latest scientific and technical achievements, and Russians are reading more about America than about any other country in the world.

Sinclair's Books Popular.

Upton Sinclair is without a doubt the most popular author in Russia, and Jack London runs him a close second. There are probably more persons in Russia who have read Sinclair than in the United States. Two years ago the Russians discovered O. Henry. He has taken the wildfire and his books in editions of 10,000, are swallowed off the press. They also had a temporary infatuation for Sinclair Lewis, particularly for his "Babbalanza," but then he almost faded from the scene. Now a translation of Ben Hecht's "Humpty Dumpty" is in preparation. The Russian dreams about America and there-

OKLAHOMA FARMER IS VICTIM OF FLOGGING FOR SECOND TIME

Officers Are Unable to Find Reason for Abduction—Four Men Under Arrest.

OKEMAH, Ok., March 31.—With three men in the county jail and one man released on $1000 bond, officers today were attempting to find a reason for the abduction and flogging of S. A. Lewellen, 43, farmer living near Castle. Lewellen was found early Monday by his wife tied to a tree near his home. He was unconscious.

The men, J. H. Munroe, Roy Pierson, Guy Matthews and Fate Lewis were placed under arrest yesterday when information was sworn against the men by Lewellen, who said he recognized his assailants when handkerchiefs they wore over their face slipped down. Sunday night, he told police, he was forced out of his home through a window, by Lewis, who lived at a nearby home. He was taken by three other men, forced across his field to a lone tree, tied to the tree by his hands, and feet and beaten with a harness strap.

Lewellen was the victim of a flogging two years ago at Okemah, Ok. None of his assailants was apprehended at that time. Roy Pierson, one of the men charged, escaped from the county jail at Okemah three weeks ago, officers said. He was being held on a burglary charge.

IDENTITY CASE UP TO COURT

Jury to Decide Whether Pension Claimant Is Lopez or Frazier.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 31.—The fight to establish the identity of Arthur Lopez-Frazier was formally carried into Federal District Court here when attorneys for the young man yesterday filed a petition to collect total disability compensation from the Government.

The petition was supported by an affidavit from Lopez-Frazier, declaring that he was Arthur Frazier, supposedly dead, Indian War veteran, and not Arthur Lopez, Mexican impostor, as his confession to the Veterans' Bureau officials stated last week ago. The Government will file an answer to the suit declaring that he is not Frazier, but Lopez, and that he is not entitled to compensation. If the Government wins, Frazier's parents will be paid $10,000 insurance which he carried. If it loses the plaintiff will receive $17,500 a month disability compensation. A jury will decide the case probably early in May. Witnesses from all parts of the country will be brought here for the trial.

Official Russia Hates Ford, But Worships His Methods; His Life Story Best Seller

Baku Oil Trust Imitates U. S. Methods of Petroleum Exploitation—Upton Sinclair Most Popular Author.

By LOUIS FISCHER.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

MOSCOW, March 9.—To the average Russian—indeed to practically every Russian—America is surrounded by a sort of glorified haze. He knows of it, he reads of it, he hears of it, but he does not know it. He knows of it as the United States—the giant country of the golden West. He will believe anything about it.

I have had people ask me whether buildings did not have 10 floors below the ground, whether there were not six strata of subways, one beneath the other, in New York City. They had heard it and they had credited it and they were disappointed to hear that it was not quite true.

As much as official Russia hates Henry Ford because he is the outstanding representative of aggressive capitalism, they worship his methods. His autobiography was for many months the best seller in Moscow. "We will improve our technique," communists tell you, "We will work for Ford's"—a la Ford, in other words.

The Baku Oil Trust is copying American methods of petroleum exploitation and refining. Russian professors are sent to the United States to study latest scientific and technical achievements, and Russians are reading more about America than about any other country in the world.

Sinclair's Books Popular.
Upton Sinclair is without a doubt the most popular author in Russia, and Jack London runs him a close second. There are probably more persons in Russia who have read Sinclair than in the United States. Two years ago the Russians discovered O. Henry. He has taken like wildfire and his books, in editions of 10,000, are sold out.

LABOR OFFICER FINED $500 FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT
Circuit Judge Miller yesterday entered a fine of $500 against Harry Jones, general secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, for contempt of Court. It was alleged that he had violated a temporary injunction issued by another Judge.

Dec. 3, 1923, forbidding him from interfering with F. D. Hall, former business manager of Local No. 18 of the local.
Subsequently a new local was formed, but Hall and others remained in No. 18. The interference on the part of Jones was said to consist in his refusal to furnish Hall with assessment stamps, without which, it was pointed out, neither he nor any other member could work at their trade.

Jones claimed that the matter of issuing stamps had passed out of his hands to the Executive Board. In assessing the fine, Judge Miller gave the defendant five days in which to pay up. If not paid within that time he must go to jail, the Court announced. "Proper orders of this Court shall and must be respected," said the Judge. He dismissed the contempt citation also asked for against Paul Morrin, international president.

501 FUNK STREET - ST. LOUIS, Missouri to Hon. H. May Smith and Martha Smith.

"It is your third offense and I will not let you escape with a fine," said Judge Weber. For the first offense the man drew a fine of $400 and costs in the County Court. He was arrested a second time in a raid made by East St. Louis enforcement officers and was given 30 days in the Danville jail on a plea of guilty in the Federal Court.

2 EX-CONVICTS HELD, STOLEN GOODS FOUND

Arrests Made on Description Furnished by Woman at Rooming House.

Henry Bostelman, who spent two years in prison as a fur thief, and William P. Davis, who was sent to Leavenworth in 1919 for making $10 bills out of $1 bills, were arrested yesterday by Newstead district police, and subsequently in a raid on their flat in the 4000 block on Shaw avenue, $2000 of stolen women's wear was recovered. Six dresses valued at $200 each were identified by Mrs. Josephine Scullin, as stolen from her shop at 4906 Maryland avenue, and a mink scarf worth $600 was claimed by Miss Elsie O'Brien, who runs a shop at 4403 Olive street. Two women, believed to be the wives of Bostelman and Davis, disappeared from the flat before the police arrived.

The arrests followed the recovery last week of $30,000 worth of women's wear, stolen by burglars from the Suzanne Shop, 4914 Maryland avenue, in a raid at 1408 Franklin avenue, a woman at that address described two men who left the property in a furnished room there and Capt. Doyle of Newstead district believed he recognized Bostelman, Davis and Bostelman were together when arrested.

Both men denied they were burglars, although a set of burglars' tools was found in a closet in their flat. Bostelman said the clothing was purchased in Omaha. Davis would make no statement.

Bostelman, who is 28 years old, was sentenced to five years in the State prison in 1921 for stealing furs from downtown firms and shipping them to Chicago in phonograph cases. He was transferred later to Bonneville reformatory and paroled. The woman who described two men who left the $30,000 worth of loot at 1408 Franklin avenue, would not identify the two men last night, although police say the descriptions tally perfectly.

RECEIVERS SEIZED EVEN TOYS OF MONTGOMERY'S CHILDREN

Operator of Alleged $1,800,000 "Blind Pool" Testifies Furniture Also Was Taken.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 31.—Austin M. Montgomery Jr., who with his brother-in-law, H. L. Schartz, is on trial before Federal Judge A. N. Hand and a jury of an indictment charging him with managing and operating a $1,800,000 "blind pool," testified yesterday the receivers had overlooked nothing in seizing his assets and property.

He testified that stock valued at $635,000 in the Pennsylvania Syndicate, operating in New York and old properties in Bruin, Pa., had been taken by the receivers, as well as his law library valued at $5000, and his three automobiles, worth $20,000.

On authority of the United States court in Baltimore, he said, the receivers had recently seized $16,500 in money orders from his wife, and had carried away the household furniture and his children's toys and belongings.

Montgomery testified his father, who was indicted with him and is now a fugitive from justice, is in Quebec, Canada. He said his father was not connected with the defunct Community Finance Corporation operating the alleged "blind pool" and had known nothing about it.

Woman Scolded Seriously.

Mrs. Anna Galla, 63 years old, of 2437A South Third street, was scolded seriously yesterday when the handle of a can broke while her daughter was transferring boiling water in the can from the stove to a tub. The water spilled on Mrs. Galla, who was seated near the stove at the time. She was taken to City Hospital.

ADVOCATES MORE ATTENTION TO MINOR COURTS IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

Cincinnati Lawyer Urges Study and Eradication of Situations and Condition Which Create Breeding Places of Crime.

Two outstanding defects in the administration of criminal justice in America were pointed out by Alfred Bettman, Cincinnati attorney, co-author of the "Cleveland Foundation Survey of Administration of Criminal Justice" prepared in 1921, in an address before the Bar Association of St. Louis at St. Louis University last night.

These defects, Bettman said, are "firstly, the cumbersome, disjointed, ill-organized apparatus with which we are seeking to enforce the law, and, secondly, the misplaced emphasis or fallacious sense of values with which we, both public and prosecutors, distribute our interest, attention and efforts."

Bettman based his conclusions on his study of criminal justice in the Cleveland survey, stating that he had never tried a criminal case. "Mistaken Sense of Values."

"We focus our interest on the more grave crimes, particularly homicide, or on the later trial stages of major felony prosecutions," he explained. "We treat the police and municipal courts as lower courts, inferior in dignity and social importance, and reserve our respect and financial rewards for the courts which try the more serious offenses or the appellate tribunals."

"This represents a mistaken sense of values. The greater crime, particularly when committed by a member of the professional or habitual criminal class, generally represents a later stage of the offender's career, which has in all probability been preceded by lesser crimes. The success of the administration of criminal law as a deterrent of crime will, therefore, be dependent upon the effectiveness with which the machinery of criminal justice deals with the offender at the time of his earlier contacts with the law, the extent to which that machinery succeeds in detecting the truth about these earlier stages of the offender's career and the success with which it succeeds in administering justice and in thus impressing upon the offender the capacity of the law enforcement machinery to act quickly and justly."

"The success of the administration of the criminal law cannot be measured by the results in the few sensational cases of murder and other striking crimes, but in the way in which that administration succeeds in detecting the truth and reaching justice in the day-by-day routine of the minor cases. Consequently the misadventure of the minor cases, rather than the less important than the so-called higher courts; and the success of prosecution is to be measured more accurately by the results obtained in the petty and minor crime cases and in the earlier stages of felony cases than in the final stages of the more prominent cases."

Should Analyze Routine Cases.

"If we were wise, we would be analyzing the reports of the routine cases. We are attracted and fascinated by the great murder or banditry cases and do not stop to realize, that perhaps the enforcement of the undramatic tenement house laws or health laws might have prevented the need that grew up into these more dramatic and fascinating crimes. There may be slum or bad-housing conditions, vice plague spots, domestic or social conditions which are productive of crime, but which are within reach of the law enforcement agencies."

The prosecutor should be a student of the causes of crime in his community, an investigator, an analyst. He should treat his office as one of the social agencies of the city engaged in the treatment or suppression of those situations and conditions which are themselves causes of law and which create the breeding places of the graver crimes.

"The apparatus with which, in our urban and metropolitan communities, we attempt to prosecute crime is hopelessly unco-ordinated and disjointed; too often the prosecuting or District Attorney (or Circuit Attorney, as he is called in St. Louis) is simply one part of this disjointed, unco-ordinated apparatus, instead of being the chief executive and director-general of a systematized and co-ordinated prosecution of crime in his community."

Essentials of Trials.

"The ultimate success in the trial of a case turns generally upon the detection and retention of evidence while that evidence is fresh. As a rule, however, the Prosecuting Attorney, whose office will ultimately try the case, has no systematic contacts with the police or other detecting departments previous to the time when the case reaches his office for presentation to the grand jury or for trial. It is largely a matter of luck whether the evidence, when the time comes for trial, has been well ascertained and well prepared.

"The disjointed nature of the apparatus with which we still attempt to administer criminal justice, is due to the fact that we have retained many of the institutions devised for pioneer or rural conditions, and are

SIGNATURES SHAKY BUT LIQUOR PLEDGE IS KEPT

Arthur S. Goble Tells of Agreement Among Friends After Visit to Mexico.

President Obregon's cocaine was very good, but Samuel Vaulcain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and three others including Arthur S. Goble of St. Louis, sped home from Vaulcain's private car last May, they decided to sign a liquor abstinence pledge effective for a year and carrying forfeits of $1000 apiece except for Vaulcain, whose bond was $10,000.

The document breathes the air of high moral purpose and reverence for the Volstead act and law enforcement, but the parties nevertheless deemed it advisable to submit a note explaining why the signatures were shaky. "The train was in motion," says the postscript. A party in honor of Vaulcain's sixty-eighth birthday was also in motion.

"It is no chinch living up to a liquor pledge," said Goble today in his office in the Boatmen's Bank building. "Since I signed it, I have been swamped with offers to partake wherever I am. Especially when I play golf, which is frequently, I am pressed to accept a snifter on the tee or a cocktail in the locker room. My neighbors sort of tantalize me with all sorts of drinks, but I haven't had a swallow since last May. I give you my word."

"Abstinence from liquor is a great thing. Since signing the pledge, my 'temperament' has changed, though I was never a great drinker. My wife finds me more agreeable in the morning and my business associates and employees find me more agreeable in the office. I feel better and when May comes again I am going to sign up for another year in the water wagon. Vaulcain is, too. He told me so himself."

The contract calls for abstinence only in the United States. Goble travels extensively and as Vaulcain's representative in the Southwest, makes frequent sallies into Mexico.

Plunger in Grain Dies.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 31.—John Brandt Walker, who as a young Chicago speculator was credited with having made $5,000,000 in Wall street in 90 days during the depression of 1907, died yesterday in Atlantic City, according to word received here. He was 67 years old and thought to have only a remnant left of the fortune he made. For 10 years before he went to New York, Walker was a spectacular figure in the grain pit here. He was caught short thousands of bushels and had only railroad fare to New York when he left.

HUNCHBACK BURGLAR AGAIN ROUTED FROM ROOMING HOUSE

Screams of Woman Causes Him to Flee Empty-Handed This Time From 3651 Washington.

The hunchback burglar who robbed roomers at the Shoe and Leather Club, 3623 West Pine boulevard, of more than $200 early Sunday morning, made his second appearance within two days when he terrorized occupants of a rooming house at 3651 Washington boulevard early yesterday morning.

Miss Vivian Kidd, a roomer on the second floor of the house, was awakened by a noise at 3:45 a. m. and in the semi-darkness saw the stooped figure with the broad-brimmed black hat ransacking her belongings.

Her screams attracted Robert W. Cochran, another roomer, who reached her door in time to see the intruder flee down the stairs and out of a window. Apparently he had fled empty-handed.

THREE DISTINCT EARTHQUAKES ARE FELT IN CALIFORNIA

Disturbances Extend From Goldrum to Lakeview, Reports to Sacramento Indicate.

By the Associated Press.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 31.—Three distinct earthquakes were noted by Southern Pacific station agents in the neighborhood of Summit last night. So distinct were the shocks that men were patched along the tracks to be certain that no damage had occurred to the tunnels.

The first shock was felt at 10:03, and the second at 10:05, and the third at 10:07. Reports received in the city indicated that the disturbances were felt from Goldrum to view.

TO WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweet-scented, fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

STOCK MARKET REALLY POOR BAROMETER, HOOVER SAYS

Secretary Declares Business View Remains Good While Employment Continues Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The continuing fall in stock exchange and grain and oil prices has not influenced Secretary Hoover to change his opinion that the outlook for business activities is good, he said today, but it has "raised a question as to the efficiency of the stock exchange as a business barometer."

"So far as the production, distribution and employment in the United States continues to be satisfactory as it is," the Secretary said, "I do not feel that it is necessary that there be any recession of business activity. These are signs of business that most concern a governmental administrator rather than the speculative movements which are essentially evanescent phenomena."

"The action in the security markets raises the question as to how good a barometer the market is of future prospect. Of course, the speculative tremors are not things that one likes to see; they are not in the interest of innocent people get hurt. It may be remembered that a year ago the stock market securities declined and the large number of people who believed in the future of the business was in prospect for the full months."

"The result forecast by the market was not experienced; it seems likely that the situation is repeating itself. The fact is that the speculative market movement is always exaggerated."

50 KILLED, 100 HURT IN COLLISION NEAR MOSCOW

Express Collides Head-On With Suburban Train—Darkness Hampers Rescue Work.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, March 31.—Nearly 50 persons were killed and 100 others injured in a head-on collision between the Tashkent Express and a Moscow suburban train last night. The locomotives were shattered and several of the passenger coaches reduced to fragments. Lack of derricks made difficult the work of extricating the victims pinned under the wreckage. The rescue party was hampered because of the darkness.

The heaviest loss of life occurred on the Moscow local, which was crowded with workers on their way home. The locomotives, which were big oil burners of the American type, were reduced to tangled masses of metal, while the coaches were ripped apart like so much timber.

The locomotives telescoped one another, scattering fuel oil, but no fire followed.

Nearly residents ministered to the suffering and removed the dead who were pinned under the wreckage.

NEGRO CHASED AND CAUGHT ON CHARGE OF DEFRAUDING WOMAN

The Prisoner, However, Denies Getting $3 as Alleged by Mrs. Mary Ponté.

Robert and William McMillan were building a fence around the house at 2814 North Twenty-second street, yesterday, when a negro came along and asked who owned the property. The McMillans told him "Mr. Tobin."

"So the negro thanked them, went upstairs to the home of Mrs. Mary Ponté and said, 'Lady, I just brought a load of wood for Mr. Tobin. He's O. D., and I got to have $10.' Mrs. Ponté gave him $10. As the negro walked down an alley the McMillans asked Mrs. Ponté what had occurred.

The carpenters tossed their tools in a corner, jumped into their automobile and followed the negro. They saw him board a Lee avenue street car. They followed, reinforcing themselves with a patrolman on the way, and when the negro got off the car at Fourteenth and Cary streets, he was arrested. He said he was Robert Taylor, 58, of 1232 North Eighth street. He denied getting Mrs. Ponté's $10.

Pain In Your Shoulder?

It's Probably Neuritis;
Use Tysmol for Relief

Knife-like jabs of pain in the vicinity of the shoulder blade are generally due to neuritis, brought on by exposure to draughts or sudden changes of weather. In some cases there is stiffness or soreness in the muscles, making it difficult to raise the arm.

The safest and easiest way to relieve such an attack is to apply a small quantity of Tysmol over the affected area. This soothing, heating preparation is quickly absorbed through the pores and carried to the throbbing, aching peripheral nerves.
The pains usually stop immediately,
and in a very short time the last traces of soreness should disappear.

Tysmol is absolutely harmless—free from "dope." Price $1 at all leading druggists. On sale in St.

$5,000,000 POLICE BUDGET SUBMITTED

Amount $600,000 Higher Than Last Year Due Largely to Anticipated Salary Increases.

The Police Department's budget for the fiscal year beginning April 21, aggregating $5,044,278, was submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today in a letter signed by Allen C. Orrick, president of the board.

Salaries for the year are figured to include the increases authorized in a bill now awaiting Gov. Baker's signature, and as a result the budget is $604,278 higher than last year's budget of $4,440,000. The bill gives patrolmen an increase of $25 a month, from $145 to $170 a month, and will result in an increase in the tax rate.

The largest item in the budget
is $1,833,772 for salaries of commissioners and all members of the Police Department. Last year this item was $2,259,000. The next largest item is $490,000 for salaries
of other employees, mainly the clerical force, which item last year was $455,000.

Other large items in the budget
are: Special service, $7500; printing, stationery and office expense, $25,000; traveling expenses, freight and storage, $25,000; insurance, $7500; general supplies and expense, $40,000; provisions and ice
$10,000; heat, light and power
$44,000; dry goods and notions
$10,000; stable and garage expense
$60,000; repairs and replacements
$50,000; furniture and fittings, $50,000; apparatus, livestock and other equipment, $75,000; financial aid for families of officers killed in police duty, $12,000.

Included in this year's budget is an item of $100,000 to complete a police station new under construction, and $250,000 to build a new station and improve existing stations.

DEFENSE DENIES ATTEMPTED RHINELANDER SETTLEMENT

Wife Said to Have 1000 Letters to Present in Annulment Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 21.—According to a statement given out yesterday by Lee Parsons Davis, chief counsel for Mrs. Alice Beatrice Jones Rhinelander, who is being sued for annulment of marriage by her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of a noted New York family, no effort has been made to settle the suit on a monetary basis.

"You can say for me," said Davis, "that I know of no effort to bring about a settlement of this case. I understand that the action will go to trial next month."

Reports have been spread that an offer of $100,000 has been tendered to Mrs. Rhinelander to bring about a settlement of the action,
but this has been scoffed at. Davis said the issues to be submitted at the trial in the Supreme Court
at White Plains are:

First, "Is Mrs. Rhinelander of negro blood?"

Second, "Did the defendant deceive her husband as to her color?"
From an authoritative source it was learned that Mrs. Rhinelander has 1000 letters written by Rhinelander to her previous to their marriage and after the action for the annulment was started.

WINIFRED BLACK TODAY TELLS The TRUTH About JANE

MARY came to see me the other day and she told me the truth about Jane.

I must say it was awfully interesting. I've always liked Jane myself. She's such a gay, inconsequent, irresponsible, good-natured, happy little soul.

Always laughing and always putting her little birdlike head on one side and arching her eyebrows and looking mischievous.

Always finding a new dressmaker that's a love, just simply a love, my dear, or a cook, who's simply a wonder, nothing short of a wonder, or a vegetable man who is almost a kind of saint, from Jane's point of view.

And she's always going away on little journeys and coming home with a new flock of devoted friends in her pocket.

Preachers and school teachers and lecturers and actors and singers and dancers and little girls who are going to be stars some day, and women whose husbands have treated them abominably, my dear, and old ladies whose married daughters ought to be sent to Coventry for the way they treat their mothers.

And little scared-half-to-death country brides and struggling young lawyers and poor old souls of every kind who never had any one nice to them in their lives before.

Makes You Think She's Pretty.

And Jane's pretty, too. No, she isn't really pretty, but she knows how to make you think she is and that's almost the same thing, isn't it? If you should brush Jane's hair straight back from her forehead, and do it in a little tight knot at the top of her head and put Jane in a plain dark dress and a pair of dainty shoes, you'd never look twice at her.

But Jane doesn't arrange things that way—not she. She fluffs her hair around her face till it looks like a soft, dark cloud, and she always wears soft, pretty colors and a lace scarf, or two or three widths of diaphanous tulle and the prettiest little, roguish shoes you ever saw—high heels, with bows on them and buckles that actually wink at you.

Oh, yes, Jane is a good deal of a fascinator when all is said and done.

Kind hearted, too—is Jane.

She spends one morning every week reading to the blind old women in the Home for the Blind, not far from her house, and she takes a bag of tobacco to the old men at the blind home. Every week she does this and there's a clean new pipe for any old man who thinks he ought to have it—and nothing stands in Jane's way on the day that she has these engagements.

You may give luncheons and you may give teas—but Jane will not be there. She is busy with her old people who will never see the sunshine or the moonlight again as long as they live on earth.

And Jane goes and takes crippled children out for a drive, too. And she's always having banners and teas and raising money for little struggling infant schools or homes for the friendless, and Jane doesn't say a word about it, either.

Yes, I like Jane, sometimes I almost love her, but that's before I knew the truth about her.

Mary says that the truth about Jane is that she is a gay deceiver.

Jane Flirts—and Laughs!

Jane flirts—she flirts with boys and with middle-aged bachelors, and with elderly widowers. Oh, the dance she leads them, and Jane is no longer young. She's really getting on. Mary thinks she ought to settle down, and realize her years.

Why she gets letters from a man in China that are really too silly, and there's some sort of school teacher up in the country who is quite dead in love with her, and she laughs about it. Fancy that, at 40, and a little over.

Well, yes, it is too bad, I must admit that, but I wonder why Mary calls it the truth about Jane?

I wonder if all the things we've always known about her aren't true, too? And if they aren't just as important.

I wonder how Jane feels about it, herself?

DRESSING FOR TRAVELING IS SIMPLER NOW

By Aileen Lamont

NEW YORK, March 31.

THERE is sometimes a decided difference between the traveling American and the traveling European. One has only to stand in the waiting room of a great railroad to recognize that fact. Formerly most women when traveling wore a suit with a wash blouse. Today even in sections where the weather is warm, the best dressed women travel in long-sleeved dresses of dark material. Over these a top coat may be worn. Despite the general vogue for short sleeves, these have been completely abandoned so far as traveling costumes are concerned.

No longer do brightly kimonoed and slippered figures steal down the aisle of the Pullman in the gray dawn, with a mouthful of hairpins, a straggly braid hanging over the shoulders, and a trailing corset tucked under one arm. If the modern woman traveler wears a corset of any kind, the chances are that it slips on without difficulty and is flexible enough to adjust in a berth.

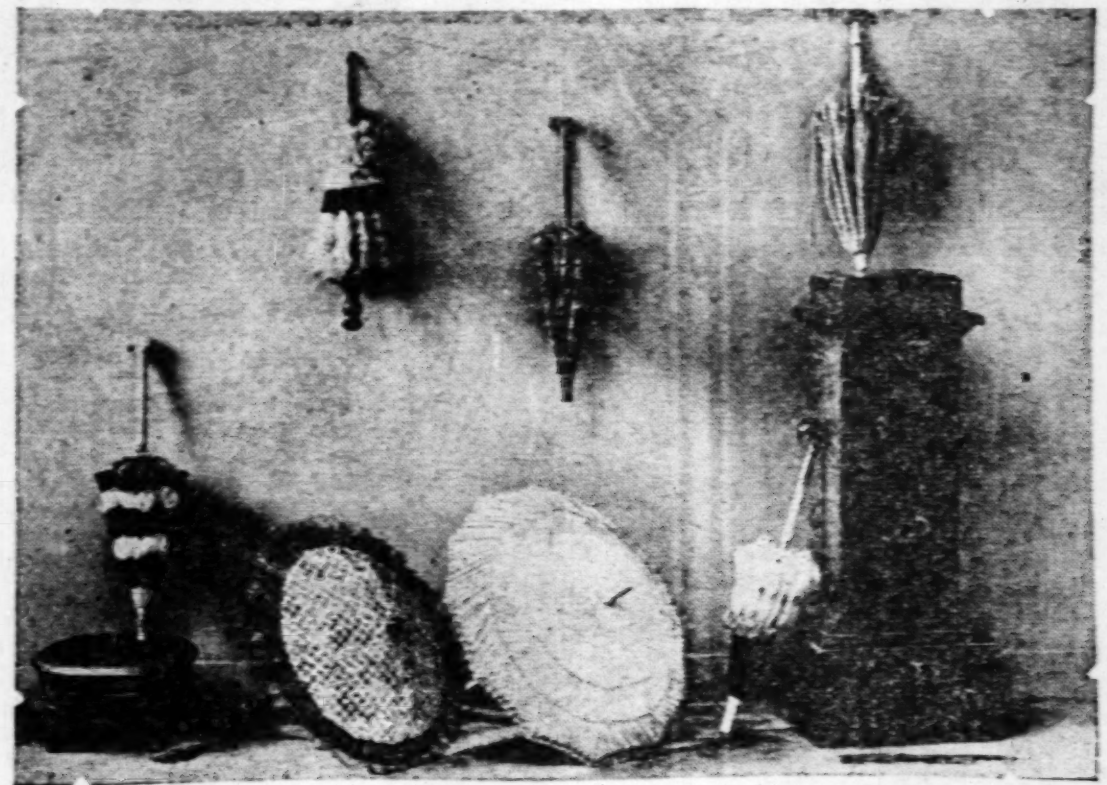

The bobbed hair fashion has put an end to long and elaborate struggles with brush, comb and hair pins. Now that many a woman wears a small jeweled comb around the neck as an ornament she runs it through her short hair, slips on her hat, thrusts her feet into buttonless and laceless pumps, pulls her one-piece frock over her head and emerges from between her berth curtains practically fully dressed. A few moments in the dressing room with soap, towel, cold cream and powder puff is all she requires.

If, however, she prefers not to complete her toilet as far as possible in her berth, she may slip on a dark colored silk pullover robe with wide sleeves and an elastic band at the bottom which prevents its becoming disarranged in brushing down the aisle.

There is every possibility that these trends of fashion will be followed by travelers throughout the summer. The only change from the spring costumes for the train will be in the top coats. Chiffon top coats or those of crepe or shantung will replace the heavier garments.

Once women were their largest burden the train has become now other means of carrying them. Now, however, the round hat box is replacing many suitcases and smaller hand bags.

Parasol Novelties for the Summer

THE Paris umbrellas and parasol makers are outdoing themselves in creating new fashions in accessories for the coming season. The newest parasols are very tiny, and of illimitable variety. There are just a few of them.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

MAN'S RULING PASSION.

I THANK Thee, Oh Lord, for my Beloved's vanity. Which inspirith him to the doing of all those things in which I delight.

Which goodeth him to the shaving of his chin, and thereby maketh him kissable.

Which causeth him to arise with the lark, and driveth him to labor at the office all day, that he may shine in the eyes of men, and be written down in the lists of the successful.

Which maketh him to bedeck ME, his Wife, in jewels and sables, that other men's wives may not outshine me, and to scatter his shekels upon me that the world may say, "How generous!"

Which causeth him to resist the insidious potato and avoid the sins of the gourmet, that he may preserve the pristine beauty of his waist-line.

Which prompteth him to the practicing of the new dance steps, that some may say of him, "He is an old dear" and a "has-was!"

Which inspirith him to drive me about in a chariot of 12 cylinders, rather than in a flivver of tin, and bestirreth him to don his dinner coat when his heart yearneth for his fishing clothes and a gray flannel shirt.

Yea, verily, was it not through his VANITY that I did lead him into matrimony? For I am well aware that he married me, not in order to GET me, but to prevent ANOTHER from getting me, and thereby to prove his prowess.

Moreover, my flatteries were sweeter than honey, and my praises louder than the sound of wedding bells. And he said in his heart: "Lo, HERE is the One Woman that apprecieth me and understandeth me! Here is the mirror in which I shall see myself reflected and glorified! Here is she that will help me to admire myself! For sheeth me as I AM!"

Go to! What would my Beloved BE without his vanity? Even as a kitten without a purr, a shirt-bosom without starch, a doggie's tail without its wag!

Therefore, all the days of my life shall I cherish and coddle my Beloved's vanity and burn incense before it.

For, lo, all those things which his conscience could not goad him to do, nor love inspire him to attempt, nor necessity drive him to accomplish, he doeth for sweet VANITY'S sake!

Yea, blessed be my Beloved's vanity! Let no hand destroy it!

Use Lemons Tonight

To Stop That Cold

AS soon as you begin to sneeze—as soon as you suspect a cold—take a hot bath and hot lemonade and get into a warm bed. Keep well covered.

Do that tonight if you feel chilly now. You'll perspire and the cold will come out with the perspiration. In nine cases out of ten, if you act at once, all traces of your cold will be gone in the morning.

In all epidemics like the "flu," thousands of extra carloads of lemons are used because millions know this old-fashioned, time-tried remedy for colds.

This is the best way to treat children's colds also.

It saves the days of time and the money that colds always cost once they take hold.

But "get" them before they do take hold—you can do it with hot lemonade if you take the drink in time.

Use California lemons. They are rich in acid juice—the best kind for colds. Just squeeze the juice of one lemon in glass or cup of hot water. The effectiveness of hot lemonade is due to more than its heat. Add sugar if desired.

Don't have a cold tomorrow. Take hot lemonade tonight.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Stuffing for Veal. The stuffing for roast veal should be very highly seasoned as veal is the most tasteless of all meats and the stuffing adds greatly to the dish.

In These Days of Colds. In our home worn sheets, pillow slips, etc., are laundered and then cut into 12-inch squares and placed in a pile in the linen closet. Then when a member of the family is suffering with a cold these clean squares are used instead of handkerchiefs. They are burned when soiled and save a disagreeable job for the laundress and spreading of the cold through the house.

Use It Along. Blue, green and yellow are all good colors for kitchen decorations.

The wire egg-beater is splendid for turning and removing doughnuts from the hot fat.

Soak the very soiled clothing in borax water. It will loosen the dirt without hurting the material.

Apple Whips. Beat two egg whites stiff and dry, fold in four tablespoons sifted powdered sugar, a few grains salt and a cupful of grated tart apple. Serve in a glass dish lined with fingers of sponge cake, or lady fingers.

Physicians universally recommend it

Never before has a product like Hardy's Iodized Salt received such universal recommendation from noted physicians and health authorities. It is nature's own way of supplying the human system with iodine—that element physicians find indispensable for the prevention of goiter and other deficiency diseases of the thyroid glands.

CHAPTER 13. LOVE CONQUERS.

The weeks went by and the charity pageant began to take definite and pleasing form.

Often they lunched together before the afternoon rehearsals of the chorus, which he was so shyly slipping into shape. Whenever he could do so he pretended some important need for consulting her, and she would come to his room.

At those times, he arranged to meet her after his evening performance and took her to a quiet, little restaurant for a bit of supper.

He experienced the most madly exciting time in his life when he was so close to her, and he felt that he was deliberately imposing upon her.

Her attitude, however, was charmingly courteous, and she never social obligation upon him.

He never guessed that Doris was feeling upon her a role which she found the greatest difficulty in maintaining. She had long ceased to struggle against him, and he hadn't succumbed easily.

He knew she had met with a sharp defeat in this, her first encounter with love.

Day by day as she watched him performing his self-appointed task as the Pageant Committee's leader, she came to admire and respect him more.

He was so courteous, so well-bred, so modest, so thoughtful in his demeanor, so understandingly handsome and charming. Every woman in the city was mad about him. It sickened her to see the way they hung about him, fairly fought for his attention.

It was "Mr. Cullum" and "Mr. Cullum" that she heard everywhere. Cullum, don't you think of it? They deluged him with letters which he gravely but always declined. His very appearance in the room was signal for the flappers to giggle, the married women to preen and the young girls to become attentive.

Over Doris had caught, upon her face, the slightest suggestion of a smile, the faintest gleam of approval, she had never had out him then and there, she was sure nothing in the world could interest him. But she did. He conducted himself

The People of the Old Pasture Are Upset

Somehow the thing not understood 'Tis difficult to think is good.

—Reddy Fox.

I watched the little people who flitted Farmer Brown's Boy tramping about through the Old Pasture were filled with nothing more than curiosity. They were merely puzzled. But there came a day when all those who lived in the Old Pasture and some of those who, though they did not live there, visited it often, were very much upset. That was the day when Farmer Brown's Boy began to cut off the brush and brambles in the upper part of the Old Pasture.

At first they paid little heed to it. But when he kept on cutting and cutting and making big piles of the brush some of them began to be indignant, and then actually became worried. Old Jed Thumper, the gray old Rabbit who had lived all his life in the Old Pasture, was the first one to become really anxious. This was when Farmer Brown's Boy cut away one of his favorite bramble-tangle. When he began work on the next bramble-tangle Old Jed Thumper became more than worried. He became frightened.

"What's he doing? What's he doing?" old Jed Thumper kept saying over and over to himself. "What's he doing? What's he doing? Isn't he going to leave me any bramble-tangles at all? How can I live without bramble-tangles? It is because of the bramble-tangles that I have lived to be old and gray. Now that I am old and gray, I need bramble-tangles more than ever. I'm not as spry as I used to be, I need places close at hand where I can be sure of being safe. There is nothing like a bramble-tangle for safety. If no bramble-tangles are left in the Old Pasture I'll have to go somewhere else. And I don't know anywhere else to go. What will

"What is going on in the Old Pasture?" demanded Granny Fox.

I do? What will I do? What will I do?

Now, of course, Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know anything about this, and he kept right on cutting away bramble - tangles, young trees and bushes. Day after day he worked. Old Man Coyote began to grow anxious. You know, his home was up there in Old Pasture. It was well hidden, was that home of Old Man Coyote's. But if the brush around it should be cut away it wouldn't be well hidden. And Farmer Brown's Boy was getting nearer and nearer to it.

"It looks as if I will have to move," grumbled Old Man Coyote. "Yes, sir, it looks as if I will have to move. I'm fond of the Old Pasture, but it won't be good for anything if Farmer Brown's Boy keeps on. I don't see what he's doing it for. I'd like to bite him. Yes, sir, I'd like to bite him. And all the time I've been thinking that he was a friend."

Old Granny Fox met Reddy Fox. "What is going on in the Old Pasture?" demanded Granny Fox.

"I wish I knew," replied Reddy. "Farmer Brown's Boy's cutting away all the bushes and all the young trees. Mrs. Reddy and I are not living in the Old Pasture now, but we had thought of moving back there. In fact, Mrs. Reddy had picked out a place for a new home over there. But we'll have to give it up; the Old Pasture's being spoiled."

Old Granny Fox shook her wise old head. "Perhaps so," said she. "And, then again, perhaps it isn't. It seems to me I smell smoke."

Granny Fox sniffed. Reddy Fox sniffed. Then they looked at each other and there was fear in the eyes of both. There was smoke, and it was coming from the Old Pasture. Farmer Brown's Boy had begun to burn those piles of brush.

The active business woman
the girl who indulges in brisk,

The housewife often gets in-exercise for the muscles about hips, and that is why I advise good hip exercises for the who must spend a certain amount of time indoors. This applies the business woman who must at her desk for a large part of every day, as well as to the housewife.
Here is an excellent hip and exercise:
Lie face down across the foot of the bed. Allow your chin to rest on the edge of the bed and your arms to hang over. Your legs
then be partly resting on the
with the portion from above, re-knees down extending out past edge of the bed.
Now place your feet together
ing care to keep your toes point-
and raise your legs as high up hind you as you can raise them.
Don't bend your knees, but your legs up from the hips. A gives a strong pull to the mus-

HOW TO SOLVE.
CROSS-WORD PUZZLE.
Each number in the puzzle indicates the position of the first letter of a word.
Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical), according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock.
Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.
Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white space allotted to it.
Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered squares.

Fillets With Fried Onions.
This is a fine rainy-day dish. Take four fillets and tie them to hold them in position. Slice thinly a large Spanish onion. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a steel frying pan. When the pan is hot, slip in the onions, season with pepper, salt, a tablespoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce in a tablespoonful of water. Cook until the onions are melted down and beginning to cook, then lay in the fillets, cover and cook until the fillets are done, lift to a hot dish, and smother with the onions. Garnish with toast sippets and parsley. Serve peas and baked potatoes on the same plate.

Where Strength Shows its Worth

Right on your bread board, the value of strength in flour first comes home to you. You feel it in the elastic, crackling dough. Its 'life' is a promise of successful results. It makes your work a worth-while pleasure.

The abundant strength of Valier's Enterprise Flour is the concentrated strength of the rich glutenous centers of the choicest hard wheat grown. Such choice wheat costs a premium—but it makes Enterprise worth much more than ordinary flour.

This strength is the secret of smoothness and lightness. It makes Enterprise go farther, and gives your baking greater food value and richer flavor. It carries the assurance of dependable results.

In every use, you will find the superior strength of Enterprise a constant aid to better baking. Order a sack today!

Prune Whip.
Put enough softly cooked prunes through a press to measure a cupful. Gradually add to the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and add sugar to taste. Pile lightly in dessert glasses, and garnish with shredded almonds that have been browned lightly in the oven. To bake a prune whip prepare the whip as above, without the almonds, and with rather more sugar. Pour into a lightly buttered baking dish and cook slowly in a moderate oven. Serve with custard or whipped cream.

Baked Herring Dish.
Two herrings, 12 medium-sized white potatoes, 1 bay leaf, 12 onions, butter, bread crumbs. Choose two plump herrings in brine. Soak them overnight in cold water. Skin, clean and bone them in the morning, pulling them into small bits the size of a child's thumb. While doing this, boil the potatoes until tender. Peel the onions. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of the herring, then a layer of raw onions thinly sliced, dotting every other layer with bits of butter and seasoning with salt, pepper and a bit of the bay leaf. Repeat these alternate layers till all the ingredients are used. Finish with cracker or bread crumbs, dot with more butter and bake for one hour in a moderate oven. (It should be brown.) Serve hot. This recipe serves six persons.

Wednesday is Raisin Bread Day

Children love this!
Raisin Bread and milk

And it's good for them—the nourishment of good wheat bread, fruit and milk in a delightful form. Give it to them for lunch and before bed time.
Have raisin bread at its best—on Wednesdays. I prepare a special baking for mid-week—beautiful, golden loaves filled and flavored with Sun-Maid Raisins. Place a standing Wednesday order for this finer raisin bread. Phone your order now.

The Man on the Sandbox

THE PASSING SHOW.
We have with us the time of year.
When everybody's coughing.
The last of March will soon be here.
And April's in the offing.
Jack Frost will softly fade away.
Before the April showers,
Then comes the merry month of May.
With festivals and flowers.

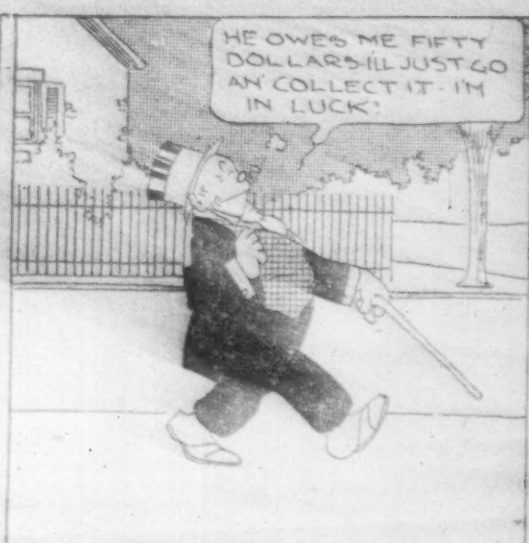

I notice where Niagara Falls.
Upstream is slowly moving.
That inch by inch, it slowly crawls.
The scientists are proving.
They're giving figures quite exact.
And if they don't deceive us.
This justly-famous cataract.
In course of time will leave us.
When to Niagara Falls we go.
We feel quite small and humble;
They put us off at Buffalo.
Where we can watch them tumble.
But they are moving back again.
And couples bent on spooning.
Will have to seek some other place
To do their honeymooning.

A Board to study Muscle Shoals.
I see has been appointed;
No doubt they'll find it full of holes.
And more or less disjuncted.
But, if this celebrated Board.
By any chance should doubt it.
Just get in touch with Henry Ford—
He'll tell them all about it.

FASHION NOTES.
The man on the sandbox says
there is a wide difference between the trousers of today and those of a year or so ago.

See where the old-fashioned poke bonnet has come back under the name of "Gloria Swanson."
After paying the children's shoe bill the Father-of-Five says he is hopefully looking forward to a renaissance of copper-toes boots.

Skirts are getting shorter and rolled stockings and bare legs will be featured.
Golf costumes will run to plastics, plus an increase of 10 per cent in price.
Straw hats with gay-colored college bands will be affected by the old boys who are still stepping out with the younger set.
